VOL. XXVI BELLEFONTE, PA., THURSDAY MORNING. JUNE 6, 1895. NO. 23

MISS COLEMAN'S SUICIDE.

It Is Believed She Killed Herself to Avoid Breaking Off an Engagement.

Dunkirk, N. Y., June 2.—The suicide of Miss Elsie Coleman caused a great sensation here. The dead girl's name is mentioned in connection with two or three men and love and jealously are said to have operated to cause her to take life. Percy McClellan, of Harrisburg, Pa., who was to have been wedded to the dead girl next month, reached here yesterday. He is completely crushed by the blow and says he can ascribe no reason for her killing herself. He has received a note written by her just before she died, but contains nothing beyond a farewell.

A strong friendship was established between Miss Coleman and a young society man of Fredonia, N. Y., and some ascribe her suicide to the fact that she was to marry another than he. This gentleman says that about a week ago she purchased a revolver in Buffalo, and told him of her doing so, at the same time saying that she feared she was affected with consumption. She would be examined by physicians and, if her fears were true she would not live to waste away.

Miss Coleman was deliberate in taking her life. After writing and mailing her farewell letters, she prepared for bed, took four grains of antipyrine and lay down on the bed. When she felt the effects of the drug, she fired the fatal shot.

Worthy of Emulation.

Philadelphia, June 2.—One of the most magnificent bequests made in recent years by a Philadelphian became known on Saturday when the will of the late Edward A. W. Hunter, who died last Tuesday, was admitted to probate.

At the death of Mr. Hunter's wife and daughter the entire principal of his estate, amounting to $500,000 is to be used in the establishment and maintenance of a ward in connection with the hospital of the University of Pennsylvania for the free treatment of surgical cases of all kinds.

Mr. Hunter, who was 79 years old at the time of his death, was well known as a prominent and successful merchant in the manufacture of lightning rods. His estate is large, and his legacy is one of the most important bequests ever made by a resident of this city.

Killed by Lightning.

Reading, Pa., June 3.—During a thunder storm at Plowville, in the southern end of Berks county, yesterday afternoon, Webster Zeigler, aged 15, and George James, aged 45, were killed by lightning. John Hoyer, Harrison Zeigler, John Eshelman and Jonas Hartz were stunned. The men were on the porch of the Plow Tavern hotel. The bolt entered at the roof and thence to the bar-room and through the open door to the porch.

Webster Zeigler was sitting in an arm chair. His shoes were torn from his feet. George James stood on the edge of the porch watching his horse. His wife and children had just entered the hotel. The injured were all rendered unconscious and were found lying near by. The particulars of this terrible affair did not reach Reading until late this afternoon.

Dickinson College Commencement.

Carlisle, Pa., June 2.—The 112th commencement of Dickinson college began here to-day. In the Allison Methodist church this morning Rev. George E. Reed, president of the college, delivered the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class. His subject was the "Coming Age, Its Characteristics and the Duty and Responsibility of Educated Men." He was followed by Governor Hastings. After the praise service this evening the annual address before the college Young Men's Christian association was delivered by Rev. Luther Tracey Townsend, D. D., of Baltimore. To-morrow Attorney General McCormick will deliver the oration before the law school class.

A Young Lady Drowned.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 2.—Miss Jennie Grogle, of Philadelphia, aged 21 years, was the first victim of the surf this year. She was bathing in front of Bew's Jetty and was caught in the current and swept away from her escort, Charles Crawford. The drowned girl was a guest here of Mrs. James Farley, who this evening swore out a warrant for the arrest of Crawford. The charge was that Crawford wilfully enticed the girl into deep water and caused her death. At a hearing he was remanded for a further hearing to-morrow. e fore being arrested he gave the name of Richard Thomas and said he lived at Cleveland, O. The body of Miss Grogle has not been recovered.

Health in Your Vest Pocket.

A box of Ripan's Tabules can be stowed away in your vest pocket. It costs you only fifty cents, and may save you as many dollars' worth of time and doctor bills.

NOW AT SOUTHAMPTON.

American Warships Make the Old Town Quite Lively.

Southampton, June 2.—The American warships lying in Southampton water preparatory for sailing for Kiel, where they will take part in the opening of the North sea-Baltic canal, have added much to the gaiety of this town. The harbor to-day was alive with boats and launches from the American vessels and all day long the pier where the boats arrived and departed was lined with townspeople watching the movements of the blue jackets and their officers. Since the arrival of the warships, Southampton, which is doubtless the best affected place in England towards the United States, has been lavish in its display of the stars and stripes and very many of the shop windows contain American devices.

The American warships are anchored off Netley hospital, where there are also two Italian cruisers. Sailors from the vessels are constantly going ashore, and Americans, Italians and English mix with the Bonhommie characteristic of their class. The American flagship has many visitors, all of whom are shown every courtesy by the officers. Yesterday the mayor of Southampton, attired in his official robes and chains of office returned the visit of Rear Admiral Kirkland. When the San Francisco arrived she fired a salute which the town was not able to return, having no guns.

The United States steamship Alliance steamed slowly last night outside, and then shaped her course westward. She is bound for Newport, but will probably call at Madera. Her decks were crowded with officers and men. As she passed the flagship she fired a salute. The squadron will probably sail for Kiel on June 11.

Another New Labor Party.

Pittsburg, June 2.—A new labor party that will hereafter be known as the United Labor League of Western Pennsylvania was organized in this city this evening. Over 100 delegates, representing every labor organization in Western Pennsylvania, met in convention and decided to amalgamate into one organization. The combined membership will be over 25,000. W. J. Smith, of the American Flint Glass Workers' union, was elected president.

The new organization will seek legislation favorable to labor and use its combined strength for the common interest of all its members. It is the ultimate intention of the new league to have all labor organizations in this country join the new order. If this is successful, a large building will be erected in this city, where headquarters will be established. A large amount of money would thus be saved yearly.

It Was a Family Fight.

Scranton, Pa., June 2.—At a late hour last night Martin McNichols of Fourteenth street came home with his month's pay in his pocket and disputed with his father James, about a small debt. The son became so enraged that he knocked his father down and plunged the blade of a small pocket knife twice into his body. Robert, a brother, and Mary, a sister, rushed to the assistance of their father and Robert was twice seriously stabbed, once in the region of the heart, so that he may die. Mary was slashed upon the hand. The case was not reported to the police until 2 o'clock this morning. Martin had escaped from the house four hours before and up to a late hour to-night not a trace had been found as to his whereabouts.

Gold in New Jersey.

Patterson, N. J., June 3.—Park Superintendent McCrowe found a lump of loam glistening with gold while digging in the side of the hill near the Passaic river. About an ounce of gold was washed from the loam. Workmen who are making a a driveway along the hill at the eastern end of the East Side park had dug down ten feet when the gold was discovered.

When it became known that gold had been found in the public park boys and men went out with shovels to seek their fortunes. Several boys found lumps of loam containing small particles of gold. Harry Johnson, clerk in a Market street drug store, found about an ounce of gold. He had it tested by a jeweler, who said it was gold beyond a doubt.

Gresham's Pension.

Chicago, June 3.—For three years Secretary Gresham had not drawn his $30 a month pension from the Chicago pension office. He has never surrendered it, but for some reason he had not made any call for it. There is an accumulation of $1,100 to his credit. The pension was granted to him for wounds received at the battle of Atlanta. Under the laws of the department, the accumulation is subject to the order of his widow, and the pension of $30 a month will go to her.

ILLINOIS SILVER CRAZED.

Altgeld and his Crowd Have Nothing to Part With.

Chicago, June 3.—Throughout Illinois, especially outside of Cook county, the fight has been a bitter and unrelenting one between the advocates and opponents of free silver coinage within the democratic party and as the state convention is to be held next Wednesday at Springfield, the preliminary work of the silver men is about concluded. It is admitted by the gold standard men that the convention will put through a 16 to 1 platform with flying colors and it is said to be the intention of the rank and file, who stand for the silver side of the party, to make all the trouble they can for the federal office holders and other so-called gold bugs.

It is understood to be the programme mapped out by Governor Altgeld, Secretary of State Henrichsen and other leaders of the Illinois democrats who have nothing to lose thereby to make an open fight no President Cleveland, Senator Palmer and the big or little democrats in office who represent the federal anti-silver element. Numerous Chicago democrats who expect to be appointed to federal offices and others who are influenced by personal interests, will stay away from the convention on account of the hot weather. The office holders under Altgeld intend to introduce a resolution to the convention condemning the president's monetary policy. Eleven counties, ordinarily controlled by men holding government positions, have defiantly declared for free coinage.

Is There Yellow Fever in Baltimore?

Baltimore, June 3.—The World, this afternoon, prints a sensational story of the arrival of a steamship with yellow fever aboard, and an apparent lack of vigilance on the part of government and state quarantine officers.

The British steamship Earnwell, Captain Rogers, from Colon via Santiago, arrived at city quarantine Saturday. The story, according to one of the seamen on the steamer, is as follows: J. Dooley, a seaman, was taken sick while the vessel was at Santiago. He became worse and was in his bunk during the whole of the voyage. While the vessel was coming up the bay Saturday two other seamen were attacked and took their bed. Late in the afternoon Captain Rodgers ordered the men to dress and go on deck. The quarantine officers boarded the vessel Saturday evening and gave a clean bill of health.

The steamer was proceeded to her berth and was docked yesterday. Dooley came ashore and went to a sailors boarding house where he died this morning with every symptom of yellow fever, including the the dreaded black vomit. The other two invalids applied to the British consul this morning for admission to a hospital. They were refused an order from the officials and were ordered out of the office. They are now probably wandering about the city.

Forest Fires Cause Great Damage

Bradford, Pa., June 3.—Forest fires are again raging in this vicinity and much property is being destroyed. Fires are raging at Chipmunk, Tallyho, Guffey and along the lines of the Erie, and the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg railways between this city and Johnsonburg.

The settlement of Coon Run, in Elk county, ten miles from Kane, is reported completely wiped out. There were twenty five dwelling houses in the village. Before telegraphic communication was shut off forty-six oil rigs were reported destroyed.

A message from Knapp's Creek, via Olean, N. Y., says that fifty rigs have been destroyed. The town is completely surrounded by fire, and should a fresh wind spring up to-night the town will undoubtedly be destroyed.

Everything between Russell City and Coon run has been wiped out, including all the rigs, tanks, etc, the pump station of the Standard Oil company and the Elk County Pipe Line company. Russell City will probably go, as a strong west wind is now fanning the flames.

It Was Commencement Day.

Carlisle, Pa., June 3.—This was commencement day at the Dickinson school of law. The exercises were held in the chapel this morning. This afternoon the annual meeting of the incorporators was held and they transacted some miscellaneous business. At 4 o'clock the address before the graduating class, consisting of sixteen young gentlemen, was delivered by Hon. Henry C. McCormick, attorney general of Pennsylvania. He was followed by Judge Staurt, of Chambersburgh; ex Judge Sadler, of this city, and others. After the addresses were delivered the conferring of degrees took place. Later the reunion of the class was held. The day's programme ended with a concert.

BELLEFONTE IN THE PAST.

A Brief Review of Bellefonte from Its Foundation.

It was in the summer of 1795 that Messers. Dunlop and Harris, in company with the latter's wife, laid out the then boundaries and streets which afterwards became the borough of Bellefonte, the name being suggested by Mrs. Harris, on account of the 'clear springs' being within the boundary of the embryo town, the name being French for "clear fountain," which name harmonized with the name of the locality. The streets were laid out as near north and south and east and west as the topography of the land would permit.

The first lot owners were Colonel Dunlop and James Harris. William Petrikin and Adam McKee purchased two lots in 1796. Alexander Divan and John Hall purchased one lot each in 1797, which made just six lot owners at that date. The slow sale of lots did not discourage the proprietors but on the contrary gave them renewed energy in inducing settlers to locate in their new town.

James Harris was born in Lancaster county in 1775. His father emigrated from Donegal, Ireland, and laid out the town of Mifflin in 1790. James Harris was a surveyor, and married, June 15, to Ann, the daughter of Colonel Dunlop. In 1795 he with his father-in-law settled in Spring Creek township, and became the first post master of Bellefonte. He died Dec. 2, aged 71 years. Many of his decendants still reside in Bellefonte.

The first dwelling house in the place was erected by Col. Dunlop on the corner of spring and High streets, the same year the town was laid out. It was built of stone and wood and is now occupied by Jacob Valentine. It was in that house the first district court was held in 1802.

In 1801 there were 19 residents in the town, not counting the women and children; two lawyers, one cabinet maker, one hatter, one tavern keeper, one weaver, one mason, one tanner, one shoe maker, the others gentlemen, and the proprietors.

Bellefonte was made the county seat by means that at this day would not be considered any too honorable. Just after the county seat was located at Bellefonte the place commenced to settle up much faster, and has continued to increase in population from that time to the present.

The borough was incorporated by act of legislature approved March 28, 1806. It was subject to the conditions of the "act creating the borough of Williamsport, Lycoming county, Pa."

When Colonel Dunlop and James Harris laid out the town they reserved for public use the land now partly occupied by the Union cemetery, on Howard street, and set it apart "to be used as a public burial place forever." In that cemetery rests the ashes of some of the greatest patriots, statesmen, judges and lawyers the country ever produced.

In 1808, the borough contained 57 persons subject to taxation. Of these nine were gentlemen, 5 store keepers, 6 tavern keepers, 3 lawyers, 2 shoe makers, 2 masons, 1 sheriff, 1 silversmith, 2 females, 3 blacksmiths, 2 wagon makers, 4 tailors, 2 carpenters, 1 prothonotary, 2 mill wrights 1 gentleman, 1 preacher and 2 hatters.

Wm. Alexander kept a tavern on the lot now occupied by the residence of the late A. G. Curtin, in 1809. Walker took the hotel where the Garman house now stands.

March 18, 1814, a legislative act incorporated "Smithfield and Bellefonte into the borough. Smithfield was a settlement on the west side of Spring creek which is now embraced in the west ward, and was named after the owner of the land, who was the first husband of Mrs. Simpson.

The water works were in existence, in a crude form as early as 1808. Wooden pipes were first laid in the streets, and it was many years before they were replaced by iron ones. The first reservoir was placed on the academy hill, under what is now the north end of the academy building. Ever since 1807 the water works have been owned and controlled by the borough and have been, and are now, a great source of revenue to the corporation. The spring discharges each minute 14,600 gallons of water, and has never varied from that quantity. The temperature of the water never varries more than two degrees from 52 to 50. The daily consumption of water in the borough at the present time and during the summer months is 300,000 gallons.

James Duncan was the first Sheriff of Centre county, elected Oct. 28, 1800, and Roland Curtin, father of the late ex-Governor A. G. Curtin, was the second sheriff, being elected in October, 1806.

The first fire organization dates back to May 23, 1814, when council passed an ordinance for the furnishing of two leather fire buckets to the owners of dwelling houses in the borough. In 1816 a tax of $700 was laid for the purchase of a fire engine, hose and necessary material, and in 1831 the engine was purchased, and in Feb. 16, 1831, the Bellefonte fire company was organized of which Judge Thomas Burnside was made president. Not one of the members of that fire company is living to-day, E. C. Humes, who died recently, being the last one.

Logan hose was organized in 1868, with 53 charter members; Undine fire company No. 2 was organized in 1871 and now has over 50 active members. In 1868 the Logan fire company was reorganized with 94 charter members. Both fire companies now possess large steam engines.

There is no record when the first court house was built, but it was a log building on the lot now occupied by the Centre county bank, probably in 1802 or 1804. Neither is there any record when the second court house was erected, but it was a stone one and stood on the site of the present one. In 1850 the old court house was torn down, except the front pillars, and the present one erected in its place. That was 45 years ago. The business of the county has outgrown the capacity of the present building, and a new one must soon be built adequate for the transaction of the public business and the proper preservation of the official records.

Such is a brief of Bellefonte's past. Look what we are at present. Now a borough with almost five thousand population, representing taxable property to the value of over three million dollars. With more great men to the square inch than any other town can boast of to the square mile. A town not surpassed by beauty and health in the whole world. The finest of buildings of all kinds. A place where abject poverty is unknown; in brief, a worthy temple built on the foundation laid out by the founders one hundred years ago.

Friday's Centennial Parade.

The arrangements for Friday's parade are now perfected as fellows:

The aids to the Chief Marshall are Col. Amos Mullen, Major J. L. Spangler and John Shugert. The first division will be marshalled by Joseph Montgomery with T. K. Morris and H. C. Valentine as aids, and will consist of [illegible] Guard, State College Cadets, and G. A. R. posts.

The second division will be marshalled by J. C. Meyer, Esq., with Hard P. Harris and J. Will Conley as aids, and will consist of the military and semi-military branches of the Knights of the Golden Eagle, other civic organizations and firemen.

The third division will be marshalled by Robert F. Hunter with Chas. R. Kurtz and John N. Lane as aids, and will consist of living pictures representing our march in progress from very early history to the present time, followed by a grand display of industrial exhibits. All persons contributing to this historical and industrial display will report the nature of the exhibit to Robert Hunter without delay.

The association of Wheelmen will lead the parade.

In the formation of the parade the wheelmen will form on High street, east of Spring, with right resting on Spring. The first division will form on North Spring with right resting on High. The second division will form on High street west of Spring, and on North Water street, with right resting on Spring. The third division will form on West High and Thomas streets with right resting on Water.

The route of parade will be out Spring street to Bishop, Bishop to Allegheny, Allegheny to Linn, Linn to Spring, Spring to High, High to P. R. R. depot, countermarch on High to Spring, Spring to Bishop, Bishop to Allegheny and pass reviewing stand to Howard street, after which all organizations and exhibits will drop out of line.

All exhibitors who cannot turn their displays in the countermarch at the P. R. R. depot will pull aside on North Spring street and fall into line in their proper place when that division again enters Spring street. The parade will form at 10 o'clock a. m., and all organizations and exhibitors are hereby notified that it will move at 11 o'clock a. m. sharp.

During the review the Burgess and speaker of the day only will ascend the stand, and many citizens of our town and county, as the stand will accommodate, over 75 years of age, are requested to be upon the stand.

Exhibitors who come with traction engines will take position at the glass works, sufficiently far from the Coleville road to prevent trouble with horses, until called for by Robert F. Hunter's aids.

H. K. Hoy, Chief Marshall.

It Is a Draw.

It takes a rich man to draw a check, a pretty girl to draw attention, a horse to draw a cart, a porous plaster to draw the skin, a toper to draw the cork, a free lunch to draw a crowd, and an advertisement in a newspaper to draw a trade.—Mansfield (Ill.) Express.

MORE TROUBLE LIKELY.

All Not Yet Serene Between Nicaragua and Great Britain.

Washington, June 3.—Fresh trouble between Nicaragua and Great Britain is anticipated in Central America, according to private advices received from that country this morning. It is claimed in Nicaragua that notwithstanding the explicit assurances given by Lord Kimberley to Ambassador Bayard and laid before congress by President Cleveland in December last that the "formal incorporation of the inhabitants of the Mosquito region with the rest of Nicaragua" was regarded by Great Britain as "the best and most complete solution of all doubt or qualification respecting the full sovereignty of Nicaragua over the entire coast." It is asserted that there is now a disposition to dispute this settlement on the ground that the Indians were coerced into it.

The agreement made by Nicaragua to pay the $75,000 indemnity demanded by great Britain was coupled, it appears, with an understanding that the remaining matters in dispute between the two countries should be settled by arbitration. The Nicaragua government, it is said, will ask that the third member of the commission (the other members being representatives of Great Britain and Nicaragua respectively) shall be a citizen of the United States. No arrangement, so far as can be learned, has yet been reached as to the time and place of holding the commission, but it will not long be delayed.

Olney May be Gresham's Successor.

Washington, June 4.—Though no official announcement has yet been made, the impression that Attorney General Olney will be transferred from the department of justice to the state department is so general in the best informed quarters that it is accepteasd a strong probability or, as one cabinet officer put it this afternoon, in a non-committal way, "an exceedingly likely business." The president may announce his intentions in the matter at a late hour to-night, or he may defer it to a later day. Mr. Olney, it is stated, will not accompany Mrs. Olney [illegible] land on their journey to Massachusetts to morrow, but may leave Washington for Falmouth, Mass., about the same time that the president starts for Gray Gables, a week or ten days hence.

Lover Dead, Father Dying.

Madrid, June 3.—Prima Rivera, captain general of this city, was dangerously shot to-day by Lieut. Clavigo, a young man who was an unacceptable suitor for the daughter of the captain general.

The lieutenant has for several months been making love to the young woman. This forenoon he visited Gen. Rivera, at his official residence, and asked for the young woman in marriage. His request was denied abruptly. He drew a revolver and shot the captain general twice, wounding him in the arm and in the left breast. An aid-de-camp of the captain general drew his sword and ran the blade through the young lieutenant's body. The young man expired in a few minutes, and it is feared that the captain general will die.

In the Hands of a Receiver.

Pittsburg, June 3.—This afternoon Deputy Bank Examiners Cochrane and Niles took charge of the A. A. Alles building and Loan Association and formerly placed it in the hands of the Union Trust company with James S. McKean as temporary receiver. This is the beginning of a series of assults upon the fake building and loan associations which infest this community and before the close of the present week several others will probably be placed under the ban of the state banking department. The Alles association is hopelessly involved in financial ruin. Big expenses and careless handling of the funds is said to have been the cause of the collapse. Whether or not there are any assests cannot now be stated.

THE women of Doylestown, which is one of the most interesting towns in Eastern Pennsylvania, have done well to form an improvement society. Situated in the rolling region of Bucks County, in which some of our best farming land in the State is found, the town ought to be capable of being turned into a veritable park, with the exceptions of its most closely built up portions. As was suggested in the case of Mauch Chunk, much better results will be obtained by the improvement society if it secures at first some competent landscape engineer to map out a comprehensive scheme of improvement than if it attempts to patch away itself. This may seem a great undertaking, but if such a method is followed it will be found that each year will see more and more of the general plan realized until finally the perfected improvement will be a subject for congratulation and a proper object of local pride.

COMMITTED SUICIDE.

The Daughter of a Wealthy Banker Shoots Herself.

Dunkirk, N. Y., May 31.—Miss Elsie Coleman, daughter of the late William Coleman, a wealthy banker of this city, committed suicide last night by shooting herself.

Miss Coleman was a prominent society woman and spent the early part of last evening calling upon friends. She was to all appearances in a cheerful mood and her friends detected nothing about her actions that would indicate anything wrong. Returning to her home about 11 o'clock, she went directly to her room. A few minutes later members of the family heard a pistol shot, and hurrying to the girl's room, found she had blown her brains out.

Miss Coleman was about 20 years of age and surrounded with all the luxuries that wealth could provide. Miss Coleman was betrothed to Percy McClellan, of Harrisburg, Pa., who was a member of the forestry commission under Gov Pattison. Yesterday, it is said, she sent an invitation to Mr. McClellan to visit her June 6 so as to be present at an entertainment in which she was to take part for the benefit of the Dunkirk library.

She became acquainted with Mr. McClellan two years ago at President Cleveland's inaugural ball, while she was spending the season at Washington. Her family relations were of the best and all the details of her home life and social environment seemed to be all happiness. She had suffered somewhat from headaches and stomach trouble, for which she had taken large doses of anti-pyrine, and it is thought that this may have temporarily affected her mind.

Manifesting Their Discordance.

Washington, May 31.—Information has been received here that the Franco-Russo-German alliance, which has threatened Japan, is composed of elements which are already making manifest their discordance. In Tien Tsin, where there are vessels of all three countries, a very bitter feeling is said to have sprung up among the Germans over the neglect of the French and Russian men of war and consulates in not displaying their flags, although specially asked to do so, in honor of Biskmark's birthday.

Last July, when the French were celebrating their independence day, the German cruiser Itlis, then in port, dressed ship and the Germans declare that this honor was tendered before there was any alliance. They are very sore over the matter, which has been reported to the home government, and it is thought that Germany cannot avoid asking Russia and France to give an explanation.

Will be Tried on Monday.

Philadelphia, May 31.—In the United States district court to-day Edwin Bookmyer and his daughter, Ella, of Lancaster, were placed on trial before Judge Butler on the charge of forging certificates upon pension papers and conspiracy. Bookmyer, a man of about 55 years of age, is a pension attorney and also a notary public. His daughter, a young woman, who assisted him in business, is also a notary public.

The contention of the United States is that the father took the affidavits of parties, and that the daughter certified that the parties making the affidavits and the two witnesses has appeared before her and signed the papers, which was untrue, it being alleged that the signatures were filled in by some one else. The trial is to proceed on Monday.

A Very Stormy Session.

Cleveland, Ohio, May 31.—The session of the Amalgamated association decidedly is stormy. Although the recommendation of the committee that the puddling scale be fixed at $4 was adopted early in the convention, a number of the men who were placed on the committee to confer with the manufacturers broke over the traces and demanded a rate of $4.50. This was flatly refused by the manufacturers. They intimated that if the association would decide on a $4 rate they would agree to sign a yearly scale. It is a foregone conclusion that another conference will be held in Youngstown as soon as the convention adjourns.

Assaulted a Child.

Danville, Ills., May 31.—Albert Boor was arrested yesterday for an assault at Covington, Ind., upon 9-year-old Annie Noonan. The man was given a preliminary trial last night and was held for trial and lodged in jail at Covington. Talk of lynching was commenced last night and well arranged plans seem about to be carried out. The streets of Covington were filled with people this evening, but they dispersed. They are now collecting on the outside of the city. They have been very orderly up to this time. The sheriff has called assistance into the jail and says he will defend his prisoner at all hazards.

L. Lum Smith Again Convicted.

Philadelphia, May 31.—The trial of L. Lum Smith, publisher of the Philadelphia Agents' Herald, on the charge of sending information contained in his paper through the mails, stating where immoral literature can be obtained, ended in a verdict of guilty in the United States district court to-day. A few days ago Smith was convicted in the same tribunal of carrying on a scheme to defraud through the mails by the medium of his paper. Judge Butler deferred sentence in both cases.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.

A Vessel Laden With Oil Came to Grief.

Philadelphia, May 31.—A cablegram from Havana was received here to-day reporting the loss of the bulk oil carrying bark Carrie E. Long from Philadelphia for Havana by being struck by lightning near the Bahama Islands and the death of the captain, mate and two sailors. The date upon which the vessel was struck is not given. In the cablegram it was stated that the vessel was totally destroyed, that Captain Henry Rolf, master of the Long; Charles Esperg, first mate, and two seamen had been killed and that the balance of the crew had been taken off by the steamer Havana. It is supposed that Captain Rolf and the other men were killed by the stroke of lightning. The bark's crew numbered, exclusive of the officers, ten men. The bark was owned by W. D. Munson, of New York.

The crew of the British ship Wynnstay, which arrived here to-day from Calcutta with jute aboard, had an exciting experience on their voyage. On April 25, between St. Helena and Ascension islands, fire was discovered on the starboard side underneath the cabin. It required forty-eight hours' work to get the fire under control and at times the crew was almost ready to despair, but to have given up and abandon the ship and taken to the boats would have been to have met almost certain death, as the vessel at the time was out of the beaten track of ships. It is thought that the cargo was badly damaged by the fire and water, but it will be impossible to estimate the damage until the ship is discharged.

The College Appropriation.

In the House of Representatives at Harrisburg Monday when the bill to appropriate $212,000 to the State college was reached Mr. Lawrence, of Washington, arose and asked some person to explain to him why so much money was appropriated to this institution, when the Western university, a far better school, had to be contented with $50,000.

The State college, he said, had already cost the state of Pennsylvania $1,500,000, and he never yet heard of any person who was sent out of it who graced the pulpit, the bar or the bench.

MOORE DEFENDS THE COLLEGE.

Mr. Moore, of Bradford, said that it was an institution that graduated those who produce the necessaries of life, and it was a college that the farmers of the state were proud of.

Mr. Lawrence replied that he made strict inquiry regarding the students and was surprised to learn that only one person in the institution was learning the business of farming.

Several members arose and explained to Mr. Lawrence the merits of the institution, and, being satisfied with the explanation, no further objections were raised and the bill passed second reading.

A Train on Fire.

Shamokin, Pa., May 31.—The unusual spectacle of a train presenting the appearance of a fiery comet was witnessed today when a passenger train of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad company emerged from Buck mountain tunnel at the rate of sixty miles an hour. The train left this city at five o'clock this morning and nothing unusual occurred until the tunnel was entered. The cars then filled with smoke, and it was discovered that the rear car was afire. The smoke was stifling and the passengers began to fear they would be suffocated. The train could not be stopped in the tunnel and the conductor signalled the engineer to put on full steam. The engineer obeyed the order and the train went through the tunnel at full speed. When it emerged the roof of the rear coach was aflame and the passengers could scarcely breathe. The train was run up to a water tank and the fire was soon quenched. It is thought that the fire started by a spark from the locomotive which fell upon the rear coach.

—Decoration Day and the Fourth of July have come to be great days for field sports, when the weather is favorable. The extreme heat Thursday doubtless spoiled the plans of some merrymakers and lessened their desire for athletic exercise. Wholesome sports is no desecration of our public holidays, but rather a fitting means of celebrating. Young America, in particular, has no relish for long orations of sober meditations on the glories of the country or the fame of its heroes. Nevertheless there is a place for all things. The older persons may take part in the formal patriotic exercises, while the future men and women take an outing.

—Miss Anna B. Hamlin was married to Henry B. Wikel Tuesday by her father Rev. Dr. B. B. Hamlin in Ridge Avenue M. E. church Harrisburg. The ceremony took place at 10.30 o'clock in the presence of many friends. As Miss Jeanne Pratt played the wedding march, the bride entered leading on the arm of her brother, Dr. B. B. Hamlin, jr., while Wildey Wikel attended his brother, the groom. The bride wore a brown traveling costume. Mr and Mrs. Wikel left on a wedding tour to the South, and will reside in Chicago, where Mr. Wikel is associate physical director of the Chicago Y. M. C. A.

Police Reform in New York.

With a new commission, a new chief and a new corps of inspectors, acting under the general supervision of a new Mayor, the New York police organization is well on the way towards becoming a brand new organization in all that the term implies.

None except the retired officials and their henchmen will dispute the wisdom of the revolution. The old commission was a Tammany-Platt combination. Chief Byrnes had become rich in his office and the subordinates seem to have been largely employed in feathering their own nests rather than in enforcing the law. With a partisan spoils commission at the head of a force honeycombed with corruption, no reorganization was possible that did not include a clean sweep.

It is likely that in getting rid of Chief Byrnes and a lot of his inspectors only the easiest half of a real reform of the police force of New York has been accomplished. It is usually easier to get rid of worthless officials than to fill their places with those that are honest and efficient and this half of the work is still before President Roosevelt and his fellow commissioners. Getting rid of the dead-wood is the first part of any reform in official position, however, and New York is to be congratulated that its police dead-wood is going.

An Old Puzzle.

The old controversy about the authorship of the letters of Junius has been revived again. For the biggest half of a century, the world has rested content in the belief that they were written by Sir Philip Francis. But now comes some literary malcontent and proves that two of them, at least, could not have been written by Francis. This is clearly shown by the fact that they refer to events which took place while he was on a voyage to the East Indies and were published before that voyage was ended.

If the purpose of this is to revive, for a generation that has troubles enough of its own, the puzzle which belonged particularly to the generation of a hundred years ago, it cannot be permitted. It is not probable that the end of this century will allow itself to be worked up over the revival of the conundrum that agitated the end of the former century. Macaulay arrayed the evidence that Sir Philip Francis wrote most of the Junius letters, and that no one but he could have written some of them. That has satisfied those who were interested that Francis was the chief Junius. Since it is now proved that he could not have written two of them, the public will be satisfied to accept the conclusion that omeone else wrote these two and let it go at that.

This is the Anniversary.

The first train on the Pennsylvania railroad ran into Huntingdon June 1, 1850, forty-five years ago to-day. The conductor was a man named Bailey. At Huntingdon passengers were transferred to packet boats and proceeded by canal to Hollidaysburg. May 21, 1850, a train with Gen. Superintendent Lewis Haupt passed over the road, the object being to test the same. Mr. J. L Miller, now in the cab shop, was an employ of the Pennsylvania Railroad company at that time, being engaged as a bridge builder.

The Hottest May Day.

Chicago, May 31.—Records show this to have been the hottest May day on record in Chicago. The mercury stood ninety-six all day and the weather bureau predicts that there will be no relief before to-morrow night. Four deaths from heat have been reported since yesterday morning. Several cases of serious prostration have come to the attention of the hospitals to-day. There is great need of rain in this vicinity.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of Testimonials.

SEAMEN COMPLAIN.

They Say that an Agreement Made by Them Was Not Kept.

New York, May 30.—There was a crowded meeting at the headquarters of the Atlantic Coast Seaman's union today. Nineteen men, who had been laid off from the new steamship St. Louis upon its arrival at this port from Philadelphia, reported that an agreement made with them by agents of the International Navigation company had not been kept.

The men, it is alleged, were hired at the headquarters of the union in Philadelphia by an agent from Cramps' ship yard at $1.50 per day, until the St. Louis left for Europe, with the understanding that they would have the privilege of going on the trip if they desired at $25 per month wages.

They were paid off here and received only $1.25 per day, although promised to be taken on again when the vessel sailed for the ocean trip. The captain told the men that the agent who hired them was not authorized to offer them $1.50 per day and that he could have had men from the shipping agents for less than a dollar a day. The men say that they are a picked crew and that the cheaper sailors would not have been competent enough for a trial trip.

Since the arrival of the St. Louis a delegate from the Seamen's union was refused admission to the vessel, although a noted crimp was allowed to go on board.

It is feared by the men that his crimp will be allowed to ship the balance of the crew needed for the St. Louis, in which case the promise made by this line to employ only union labor and American seamen will have been broken.

John Phelon Killed.

Renovo, May 30.—A terrible accident happened at Hall's Run Switch yesterday morning about 6.30 o'clock, by Engineer Thomas Jones, coming in with his train, entering the switch which had been left open by the train just ahead. Engineer Jones says he saw no man, neither did his fireman, who was looking from the other side. His attention was attracted by his engine going over something, when he looked hastily back and saw the part of a man roll out from under the tender. From letters found on his person his name was John Phelon, and his home was at Lock Haven, where he has a wife. In his pocket was found an honorable discharge from the army, and a card showing that he was an Odd Fellow. He had been here for several days selling medicines, and some of his actions were very strange and some think it might have been a case of suicide. One of his strange freaks was to buy two postal cards, write the message on one card and the address on the other. His remains were sent to Lock Haven for burial after receiving the proper care from the authorities of Noyce township.

The Colima Disaster.

San Francisco, May 30.—At 10.20 this morning the Pacific Mail Steamship company announced that they had received a telegram from their agent at Manzanilla, dated yesterday, in which he stated that the Colima foundered at sea fifty miles from Manzanillo, May 27 at 11 a. m. The dispatch further stated that a vessel had been sent out to the Colima, and that full particulars of the disaster would be forwarded as soon as received. There was no mention whatever of the cause of the disaster or the lost or saved.

L. R. Brewer, a rich coffee planter, whose wife and three children were passengers on the ill-fated vessel, is in receipt of the following message from his agent at Manzanilla: "Your wife and children not yet appeared. We are continually finding shipwrecked ones in rafts and boats."

Decoration Day at Gettysburg.

Gettysburg, Pa., May 30.—Decoration Day was observed on this battlefield with the usually interesting and impressive exercises. Post 9, Grand Army of the Republic, conducted the ceremonies in the Soldiers' National cemetery, where the children of the public schools strewed the graves with flowers. The Sons of Veterans and the Patriotic Order Sons of America assisted in the services.

At the rostrum in the southern end of the cemetery Hon. Edward McPherson presided, and after prayer by Rev. A. R. Steck, the oration was delivered by Hon. Marriot Brosius, of Lancaster. His audience ran into the thousands and was swelled by excursionists from Washington, Baltimore, Harrisburg and Philadelphia.

No Strike a Certainty.

Columbus, O., May 30.—The interstate miners' convention adjourned this morning without having taken any action regarding the strike. The Ohio delegates are now holding a conference and convention with the operators with a view to ending the strike in this state. President Ratchford said in a speech to the miners that he thought it was a mistake to demand 60 cents per ton as was done by the Ohio miners' convention here three weeks ago. The strike is certain to come to an end at once, and the miners will, no doubt, go to work at the operators' prices.

Chicago's Confederate Monument

Chicago, May 30.—The monument erected in Oakwoads cemetery to the memory of the Confederates who died while prisoners of war in Camp Doughlass was dedicated to-day with impressive ceremonies. The day was cool and pleasant and gray. General Wade Hampton delivered a patriotic and touching address.

In Memoriam.

Mrs. William Gates died at Bellefonte, Pa., August 6, 1894, in the 80th year of her age, having lived a long and beautiful life. These are some of her sweet words uttered only a few days previous to her death: "Jesus will not come to take me home just yet; but very soon He will come and then He has promised me rest eternal, in the presence of the King."

While our fare well tears are shining,
While our loving arms are twining,
Her departing soul takes wing.
Look beyond! a light is beaming
From the golden portals gleaming
Of the shining royal palace,
In the presence of the King.

See her smile of radiant glory!
Angels waft a pleasing story—
As they tune their harps and sing;
Telling of the joys of heaven,
That to each crowned brow is given,
Of everlasting rest awaiting
In the presence of the King.

Jesus comes to claim His treasure,
For His own eternal pleasure.
Loud the notes of praises ring.
Oh the happy, happy meeting,
Sweet the pleasant home tide greeting,
She is resting with her Saviour,
In the presence of the King.

Happy home of rest eternal,
Prince of Peace! oh love supernal!
Promises fulfilled you bring,
All the ransomed safe in heaven,
Every jewel back is given,
Safe within the golden city,
In the presence of the King.

Roaming with the blest forever
Where the flowers never wither,
By the never-failing spring.
Balmy fragrant breath of Edon,
By the Rose of Sharon laden,
Blest land of rest immortal,
In the presence of the King.

MARY E. HILL,

Bellefonte Pa., June 1 1895.

Memorial Day at Unionville.

Memorial services were held at Unionville in the afternoon and evening. In the afternoon Prof. John Hamilton addressed a large assembly at the cemetery and in the evening exercises were held in the Methodist church. Addresses were delivered by Judge Love, Prof. Hamilton and Clement Dale, Esq. By special request Mrs. Clement Dale read one of Will Carleton's poems, entitled, "Private Brown's Reflections on Decoration Day." The Bellefonte drum corps was present and rendered the music for the occasion, and there was also an excellent choir of ladies and gentlemen from Unionville. The audience showed their appreciation by remaining in an overcrowded room for over two hours.

Probably Lynched.

Jacksonville, Fla., May 30.—In Polk county, Fla., last Tuesday night a negro entered the home of Mr. Pipkin and assaulted his daughter, Mrs. Timberlake, while she was in bed with her little girl. The negro choked Mrs Timberlake and injured her badly. She managed to scream and her father, who slept in an adjoining room, came to her aid, when the negro escaped through a window. The negro was arrested Wednesday night with three companions. Guards started with the four negros to Barlow, but were met by masked men who took the negroes into the woods and three of them have not been seen since. The fourth was beaten and ordered to leave. They were probably lynched.

Smashed a Bicycle Record.

Louisville, Ky., May 30.—Mike Dernberger, of Syracuse, smashed another bicycle record into atoms this afternoon at Fountain Ferry park. Paced by a squad he accomplished the wonderful feat of covering two miles in 3:51 4-5. This performance clips almost three seconds from the record which until this afternoon stood at 3:54¾.

F. D. Carnett, also of Syracuse, tried for the one mile unpaced record and succeeded in equalling the performance of Sanger, who held the record of 2:07 1-5.

He Stole a Bible.

Shelbyville, Ind., May 31.—Mahlam Fainberton, a laborer, broke into the First Baptist church here last night and stole a valuable Bible. He pawned it for half a dollar and got drunk on the whisky he bought with the money. Then he went to the home of William Bentley and tried to assault the 8-year-old daughter, but Mrs. Bently beat him off with an ax. He ran against the sheriff while trying to escape and was taken to jail. A lynching is expected before daylight. Fainberton, whose home is in Cincinnati, is 35 years old.

Missing with $200,000.

St. Louis, Mo., May 30.—An afternoon paper states that Mr. A. Wright, of the firm of Wright & Warner, manufacturing agents has been missing nearly one week. He is alleged to have taken with him nearly $200,000 in negotiable bonds and warranty deeds to valuable lands. His partner Professor Clarence D. Warner, claims to be ignorant of his whereabouts and says his personal loss will reach nearly $100,000.

The Rails Spread.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., May 30.—A passenger train on the Montrose railroad jumped the track near Springville to-night, caused by the spreading of the rails. One of the coaches, in which were ten passengers, turned over and fell down an enbankment, striking a tree and demolishing the coach. The passengers were badly shaken up and frightened, but none of them were seriously injured. The express car, attached to the train, was also wrecked and the contents scattered in all directions.

Honest But Not Premissible.

The Charleston "News and Courier" has at last concluded that the time has arrived when it can treat the suffrage question honestly. In order to end the controversy over negro suffrage it proposes what it calls "an honest, straightforward plan," which "is simply the plan of restricting the right of suffrage to the white men of the State and accepting the consequences of the restriction in good faith." The consequences, it says, "would be the loss of a proportionate part of our representation in Congress and other national bodies."

The "News and Courier" is to be congratulated on its honesty and the fearlessness with which it states its opinions. When a South Carolina newspaper frankly admits that the colored people's right of suffrage is only "a nominal right," and one "which they do not exercise," an important step has been taken toward the settlement of the vexed suffrage question. It goes further than this. It says "The reduction in the number of our Congressmen will not hurt us in national politics. We can better afford to give up the extra ones than to hold on to them. We have no right to hold on to them, in fact, while we refuse to give the negroes of the State full voting privileges. This is the only honest and right plan for the final settlement of our peculiar social and political troubles."

But, with all due respect for the honesty of the Charleston newspaper, the plan it proposes is neither the right nor the permissible plan. The right plan is for the people of South Carolina, and every other Southern State, to accept the conditions and prepare the black man for the duties suffrage placed upon him. If the time and effort given to depriving the colored man of his rights had been given to fitting him to exercise those rights he would be to-day well advanced toward the level of his white brothers. It is against the colored man as a colored man, and not against his inability to become a good citizen, that the South objects. But the nation would never consent to the solution the "News and Courier" proposes. Civilization would stand aghast at the proposition to thrust 7,000,000 of people from the position of freemen to that of virtual slaves. That will never happen.

It is pertinent, however, to contrast this frankness of a Southern newspaper with the contemptible spirit shown by the Mugwump organs that never fail to scream "bloody shirt" whenever any reference is made to the forcible disfranchisement of the colored men in the South and the additional power this disfranchisement places in the hands of the Southern Democrats. The humiliation of these Mugwump excusers of fraud is complete.

A caucus of the Republican members of the Senate at Harrisburg, yesterday, resulted in the adoption of a motion to adjourn, to meet at the call of the Chair, George Handy Smith, who is an adherent of Senator Quay. The vote is given as 19 to 17, with four Senators present and not voting, and three absent. The plain mandate of the Constitution calls for the periodical apportionment of the State. The caucus was called for the purpose of agreeing upon a plan of apportionment and its presentation to the Legislature. At present the Senate and House have rival bills on the subject. The existing apportionments were made so long ago that they are inequitable and unfairly representtive of the population. Senator Quay's hold on the Senate has been weakened by the opposition of the political manager in Philadelphia and Pittsburg, and the indications are that Governor Hastings is one too friendly to him. Mr. Quay prevented General Hastings' nomination at the time that Senator Delamater was put up for Governor, although it was well known that Hastings at that time was the popular choice. The closing days of the Legislature are at hand, and if an apportionment is not speedily agreed upon its chance of passage will be slight.

Senator Quay has arrived at Harrisburg and taken command in person. His friends who opposed the reapportionment of the State as the Constitution commands His presence has naturally given great encouragement to those who have been determined to prevent the Republican majority in the Legislature from performing its duty. At one stage or another the House the apportionment bills had the support of a majority of the members and a majority of the Republicans the Senate were substantially committed to them. The Senate caucus yesterday, however, after its good work of the day before, took action which could not but be regarded as adverse to apportionment, while not certainly defeating it. As the evident intention, as indicated by the news of last night, to get matters in such a shape that the opponents of the measure will be able to call them up in the House to-day and give them a death blow, at least what the presence at the capital Mr. Quay means.

—John Barlet, whose name appears in the roll of dead soldiers buried at Birmingham was born 1659 and died 1. Enlisted for three months in 1777 to check the British advance on Philadelphia, enlisted in the Continental troops 1780, was attached to a French battery to serve ammunition, was in the battle of Yorktown, was discharged in Boston, December, 1782. He enlisted at Reading, Pa.

Religious Garb Bill.

The religious garb bill passed finally in the senate on Tuesday by an overwhelming majority. It then went to the house for concurrence in the amendments which were made. There is no doubt that the representatives will agree to the modifications of the senators. The governor's approval of the bill is almost certain to be given.

The religious garb bill is aimed at the Catholic church. It is a result of the hostility entertained for members of that faith by certain dark lantern organizations. It is not the product of patriotic fervor nor of a wish to keep the schools from any sectarian influence, but is, solely and entirely a manifestation of a desire to engage in the persecution of a church whose adherents number in this commonwealth about 1,000,000 persons.

The Mennonites, Dunkards, and Quakers, whose peculiar garb is forbidden on school teachers by the provisions of this bill, would be gladly exonerated by the power behind the measure if it were found possible to do so and still strike at the few Sisters of St. Joseph at Gallitzin, to attack whom the bill was framed and passed in the house and senate of the great commonwealth of Pennsylvania. The lawmaking power of a powerful state has been worried for months to harrass and persecute a few pious and gentle ladies who have devoted their lives to the service of God and ther fellow-beings.

The Last in the Region.

The Clearfield Raftsman's Journal says on Friday last George M. Dimling, Esq., of that place, entered into a contract with A. W. Lee & Co., who recently purchased a large timber tract from H. A. Wright, of Glen Hope, for cutting 8,000,000 feet of logs on the timber lands of this company in Beccaria township. In addition to this large number of logs, Dimling is to make five large rafts of oak timber which will be as fine rafts as ever went down the Susquehanna. The tract from which these logs and rafts are to be cut is one of virgin timber and the last one in that lumber region. The contract is to be completed in one year and Treasurer Dimling is already organizing a competent force to carry on the work.

WEEKLY FINANCIAL REVIEW.

From our Regular Correspondent.

NEW YORK, June 1, 185 .

On the Stock Exchange, there has been this week some interruption of the prevailing buoyancy. First in London and then here, there was a disposition to realize the large profits on the late advance in prices; all of which was natural and healthy. Next came discouraging reports of serious injury to the crops from the late spurt of cold weather, together with rumors of injury from insect pests; to which the market was naturally sensitive after having counted upon the prospect of a fine harvest. Concurrently with these facts, came reports of a renewal of "bearish" attacks upon American investments by certain London journals notorious for their pessimistic attitude towards our securities. And to these interruptions must be added the occurrenee of holidays both here and in London. The effect of all this has been to draw out a certain extent of "bear" attacks and to produce some yielding in prices. The effect of these influences, however, has been less than might have been expected in view of such an important advance as has occurred and towards the close of the week a recovering tendency set in, notwithstanding that both to-day and Monday are bank holidays in London.

The market appears to have discounted the worst probabilities respecting the wheat crop and now begins to consider the other side of the case. So far, the facts are that the crop is unusually backward, owing first to drouth in the early stages of its growth and then to check from sudden exposure to severe cold. It is not impossible that this may, in any case, prove a permanent injury; but at the same time the extent of the injury must greatly depend upon the future course of the weather. It is not at all impossible, nor even unlikely, that with plenty of moisture the crop may yet turn out a fair or average one. The plant has not yet absorbed the soil elements of nutrition, and should the atmospheric elements of growth proye propitious the recovery of the plant may surpass what is now anticipated. Moreover, the complaints are confirmed almost exclusively to the wheat crop. The corn crop is vastly more important, its bulk being fourfold, and its value more than double that of wheat. This year, owing to the high price of corn and the low price of wheat, the acreage of Indian corn is likely to be unusually large, and at present there are no conditions unfavorable to the prospects of the crop. Taking the agricultural prospects as they exist to-day, there is nothing in them really incompatible with the hope of a good harvest. Very much, however, must depend upon the course of the weather for the next few weeks. There is no certainty in either direction, and the present situation therefore calls for reservation of judgment as to the harvest factor in investments.

Apart from these crop considerations, the underlying conditions and tone of the market remain unchanged. There is no abatement of confidence in the permanence of the revival of general trade which set in with the Spring business. The best evidence of the recovery in the manufacturing industries is the continuous advance in wages, mostly voluntarily granted by employers. In most cases the new tariff duties seem to impose no obstacle to production; in some, manufacturers find a positive advantage. The problem now, indeed, seems to be less how to compete with foreigners in the home market than how to outdo them in the foreign markets, in which the chances for Americans are becoming more hopeful and are attracting increased attention. Among those in close contact with our industries, the conviction appears to be gaining ground that we have entered upon a period of unusual growth and prosperity in manufacturing enterprise generally, and that, in some of the leading staples, we are entering the lists for an active competition in the world's markets.

The improved status of our investments in Europe shows signs of further progress. The education of investors seems to be passing from the narrow and pretentious critics of the press to the better informed and more candid bankers and financiers whose judgments really direct the course of European investment. It is a telling comment upon the value of editorial opinion in London that while Economists and Statists have been persistently decrying our corporate investments, bankers have, within the last three months, placed some $130,000,000 of our bonds and stocks in the London and the Continental markets. This week, an issue of $5,000,000 of railroad bonds drew out $10,000,000 of offers from London before the securities were openly offered; and besides that $2,000,000 of obligations of an electrical corporation were negotiated in the same market.

Europe seems to no longer attach any serious importance to the position of the silver question in this country. Observers there seem to have reached the conclusion that our agitation about free coinage is but an ephemeral phase of popular ignorance, destined to disappear under the influence of the conservative common sense of the people at large; and their judgment is a safe one. In the South and the West, a very marked reaction against national free coinage has set in under the diffusion of information through the various Sound Money agencies, and the best judges of sentiment and politics in those sections agree that the Silver Kings can make no further progress in their efforts to create a Government market for their product. There is a quasi-conservative element among us who have clung to the hope that a settlement might be reached through establishing International Bimetallism; but the hopes of that class are fading before the growing evidences of the improbability of bringing about such an agreement; if not also from growing misgivings whether such an arrangement would prove equal to providing for a present annual world-product of $200,000,000 of the metal and possibly of a yearly increase in addition. England's disposition in the matter has been shown this week by the Chancellor of the Exchequer's emphatic public declaration that, under no conditions whatever, would the British Government sanction any departure from the historic gold standard policy of the nation From the opposite political party came authoritative warnings to Mr. Balfour and Lord Salisbury that the Conservatives would oppose any concessions towards bimetallism. This materially lessens the hope of England supporting a double standard policy; and, as England goes, so Germany will follow, if not even France also. Clearly, therefore, conference or no conference, international bimetallism is now surrounded with greater doubt than ever as a settlement of this question. A recognition of that fact will tend to greatly clarity the issue in this country, which must later confine the choice of our people between the gold standard on the one side, and the single silver standard with freecoinage on the other side. In reality, this should settle the question; though the fanatical stubbornness of the silverites may help to keep the issue in politics for some time longer. In the meantime, it is certain that no legislation favorable to silver could be enacted so long as the Presidency is in its present incumbency.

HENRY CLEWS.

Purchased Another Tract.

From the DuBois Courier we learn that Hon. A. C. Hopkins has just closed a deal whereby he secures possession of a 1,300 acre timber land tract on Wolf creek, about four miles north of Falls Creek. The tract is well covered with hemlock, with a considerable amount of other kinds of woods. Conservative estimates put the amount of hemlock at 22,000,000. Mr. Hopkins has a large mill a few miles below the tract on Sandy creek, which receives the waters of Wolf creek. He has been lumbering for years in the immediate vicinity and has equipments and improvements which can be made use of in getting the timber and bark out which others would have to pay for. Degnan & McDonald, his stockers, are acquainted with the ground and know just what to do to take the timber off the tract at the lowest cost. The bark is expected to go to the Falls Creek tannery, Mr. Hopkins has enough timber on his own lands in the same neighborhood to run his mill for several years yet, and does not expect to cut into the new tract for two years.

To Recover the Losses.

Reports continue to come in of damage to the standard crops by the recent severe frosts. Naturally the statement of the widespread losses induces a gloomy view and tends to such errors as the statement in such a report yesterday that the present situation is "the poorest prospect for years."

This is too pessimistican opinion. While it is beyond dispute that there has been wholesale injury, some of it irretrievable, the damage to the staple crops can be largely if not altogether retrieved. Replanting of corn and potatoes at this time will, with a favorable season, yield good returns before next winter. The reports of two experiment stations show that corn planted at this period matures in less time than that planted in the middle of May. There are a large number of food products that if the work of putting them in was begun promptly after the frosts may make good crops in the fall.

The farmer of the unconquerable type commenced his work as soon as the injury was apparent, and is likely to make good his losses by so doing. The losses by such weather as we have had are unpreventable, but the indomitable spirit that makes the best of everything can repair at least a great share of them.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, June 3, 1895.

From our Regular Correspondent.)

Those who watch the undercurrents rather than the surface of politics are beginning to see that Mr. Cleveland is a far shrewder manipulator of wires than he is generally credited with being. For instance, his object in promising that he would support the candidacy of ex-Secretary Whitney for the democratic Presidential nomination, if Mr. Whitney would consent to the use of his name in that connection, has now become apparent to those who know the game of politics. Instead of being a renunciation of his own desire for another nomination, as many at first supposed it to be, that promise of Mr. Cleveland's is a very clever move by which he expects to retain control of the democratic nomination, whatever the result of the contest now going on between the gold democrats and the silver democrats may be. If the gold democrats can control the next National convention Mr. Cleveland will take the nomination himself, and if the silver democrats control it the nomination will go to ex-Secretary Whitney, thus making it certain that no anti-Cleveland silver democrat can carry off the empty honor of the nomination.

That this move was taken by Mr. Cleveland with the knowledge and consent of Mr. Whitney was proven by the fact that Mr. Whitney had no sooner got back from Europe than he gave out an authentic interview stating his position on the silver question. His position is a straddle, if put to actual and immediate test, but it is so interlaiden with "taffy" for silver and opinions as to its speedy rehabilitation as a money metal by the great commercial nations of the world, that it leaves the impression that he is very friendly to silver, which is just the impression it was intended to leave. It is Whitney's part of the game begun by Mr. Cleveland when he promised to support Whitney if he wanted the nomination. That Whitney really wants the nomination is improbable, although he would doubtless be willing chip in four or five of the Standard Oil Company's millions to become President. But he is too smart to believe that any democrat can be elected President next year. His part of the game is being played just to please Mr. Cleveland, whose friendship has been valuable to corporations in which Whitney is interested, and may be again.

Senator Carter of Montana, who is chairman of the Republican National Committee, is in Washington. He says the National Executive Committee will probably meet the latter part of October or early in November to decide where and when the next National Convention shall be held, and that he would not be surprised if it decided to hold it in May, instead of June, which has been the usual month, as he finds the sentiment in favor of the former month strong and growing. In reply to a question Senator Carter said: "The National Committee is an organization that will not take any position for or against silver. It is no part of the business of the committee to undertake to declare party position on current questions. That task is left to the party when assembled in National convention.

There is a rumor, too good to be true, that Mr. Cleveland will, in filling the vacancy left in the Cabinet by the death of Secretary Gresham, endeavor to get a democrat whose Americanism is robust enough and sufficiently well known to the public to reinspire confidence in the foreign policy of the administration. It would be a good thing for Mr. Cleveland to make the attempt to do this, but unless the terror of public opinion has been misunderstood, there is only one thing that will make the public believe in the Americanism of the administration, and that is the election of a republican President.

Lots of republicans from the great northwest, who drop into Washington from time to time, put in a good word for Senator Dubois, and lots of republicans from all other sections meet them with earnest "amens." Mr. W. C. Leonard of Butte, Montana, speaking on this subject said: "It would please our people not only in Idaho but in the northwest generally, if the republican convention should see its way to nominate Senator Dubois for the Vice Presidency. He would make a great run. Personally, he is the strongest man in his State, if not in the entire northwest, and if he is not Vice President when the time comes he will not have the slightest difficulty in being re-elected to the Senate." Of course everyone realizes that the selection of President must be made before that of his running mate, and that the section from which one comes virtually decides that from which the other must be taken, but there is no harm in expressing liking for so good a man as Senator Dubois, who could have anything he desired, if the election were to be make by the votes of his republican colleagues in the Senate.

FROM the West comes reports of cloud bursts, tornadoes, water spouts and land slides, doing great damage to property. Many of these cannot be well guarded against, the ravages of the elements defying the puny efforts of man to combat them. In the Schuylkill Valley of Pennsylvania much hayoc has been wrought by hail. All over the country, east of the Mississippi, a blistering heat has prostrated humanity as well as blasted vegetation. June comes in as though it meant to make a record for itself.

THE Governor of New York has signed a bill which is a matter of some importance to the people of other States, inasmuch as it widens the scope savings bank investments. The new law mentions a number of Pennsylvania cities in whose obligations it is made lawful to invest the deposits of these institutions, and it will no doubt considerably enlarge the market for such investments.

ST. JACOBS OIL IS THE KING CURE FOR CURES BURNS LUMBAGO

The Firemen's Parade.

The firemen have so far completed the preliminary arrangements for firemen's day as to give the route of parade for that time. Col. Amos Mullen has been selected as Chief Marshall of the parade with Gen. W. F. Reeder and ——— as aids. The parade will consist of two divisions, the first to be marshalled by John Lane, Robert F. Hunter and Joseph Montgomery, aids; the second by George Jackson, with Lee B. Woodcock and Ed. Hoy as aids. The parade will form on Spring street, right resting on High, and at the stated hour will move over the following route:

Up High to Allegheny; north on Allegheny to Linn, Linn to Spring, Spring to High, High to P. R. R. depot, countermarch on High to Spring, Spring to Bishop, Bishop to Allegheny and north on Allegheny past the reviewing stand in front of the court house, after which the organization will be at liberty to drop out of the line. This will make a good route of parade and plenty long enough if the weather continues as warm as now.

The Centennial Booming.

Everything is working lovely for the success of the centennial this week and the prospects are now for such a crowd in Bellefonte as the people in the town never witnessed before. It is variously estimated that there will be from twenty-five to thirty thousand people in town on Thursday and Friday. Most every organization in the county, of any kind whatever, will be here in full, and a large number from outside the county are coming. The prospects for the parade on Friday are excellent and denote a display of unusual length and brilliancy. There will be all kinds of organizations in line and band after band of music. So get to work all and do the little that yet remains to be done and you will see one of the most glorious times ever seen in this one-hundred-year-old mountain town.

When "Blue" Go Bicycling.

Demorest's Magazine for May had an interesting article on cycling, in which Conan Doyle, who is an enthusast, says:

"When the spirits are low, when the day appears dark, when work becomes monotonous, when hopes seem barely worth having, just mount a bicycle and go for a good spin down the road, without thought of anything but the ride you are taking. I have, myself, ridden the bicycle most during my practice as a physician and during my work in letters. In the morning or the afternoon, before or after work, as the mood o'ertakes me, I mount the wheel and am off for a spin of a few miles up or down the road from my country place. I can only speak words of praise for the bicycle.

Bearing False Witness.

A feature of the Duss case yesterday was the calm announcement of the principal witness for the prosecution that he had perjured himself in giving his previous testimony. This witness had told on a former occasion, under oath, a story derogatory to Trustee Duss, entering into minute details and descriptions. Yesterday he declared there was not a word of truth in that story and that he had been induced to swear to it by representations that a large amount of money might be secured from Duss' conviction.

This is a frightful exhibition of mendacity, under solemn oath to tell the truth. Both stories cannot be true and the false statement is rank and aggravated perjury. That witness might be made an example of to teach persons inclined to lie the dangers of indulging their proclivities in the law courts under oath.

Lawyers in first-class standing at the bar declare it is easy to secure witnesses who will tell anything for a consideration. They will subscribe to the sacred oath with a show of sincerity and testify to anything they are told is wanted. Such witnesses make a travesty of justice and a farce of litigation. It is time they were dealt with as severely as the law prescribes for such offenses.

The Troubles of the Trusts.

The difficulties that have overtaken and which seem practically certain to wind up both the cordage and Whiskey Trusts may possibly foreshadow the decline and final abandonment of the trust combination without prohibitory legislation. The Cordage Trust is in the hands of a receiver for the second time and the Whiskey Trust has been receiving a legal overhauling which may land some of its members in prison.

Men are just as selfish and just as likely to quarrel after joininga trust combination as when trading singly. When to this ineradicable trait of human nature is added the fact that it is lawful for any one to engage in a business which has become the subject of trust combination and that new methods are more likely to be adoped by competing individuals and firms than by a trus managed by salaried officials, it is not a yet entirely demonstrated that the trust method has come to stay or that it will permanently displace the principle of competition.

Competition has survived through a great many centuries and combination as a substitute for it has been given a very limited trial.

Are You a Sufferer From Rheumatism or Neuralgia?

E. P. Tayer, of East Nassua N. Y. says "I wish it possible to speak personally with every rheumatic victim, for I would tell them of my terrible experience and the relief and cure I found in Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. My condition at the time I began its use, seemed hopeless. I had suffered for fifteen years with inflamatory rheumatism. My physician said I would be a cripple for life, but it was not ordained that way, for I had not used Favorite Remedy long before I was convinced that it was the right medicine, and in a short while I was cured."

Solomon Davis, of North Kortright, N. Y., suffered from neuralgia and loss of sleep, as is often the case with elderly people, says: "I found that Favorite Remedy relieved the bowels improved the circulation of the blood, and the old pain left me altogether."

One of Bellefonte's physicians recently said:

"There is no reason in suffering with rheumatism or neuralgia, for Dr. Kennedys Favorite Remedy will cure them." Druggists sell it.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla has done me more good than any physician. I had catarrh and dyspepsia 20 years, and tried different remedies and prescriptions without benefit. The doctors told me

I Could Not Live.

One day after reading of the wonderful cures effected by Hood's Sarsaparilla, I resolved to try one bottle. It did great and good work so I continued, and after taking four bottles it is with joy and gladness that I write that I am perfectly cured

And Am a Well Man Today.

My wife was troubled with nervousness and a general tired feeling. She could not walk any distance or do any heavy work.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures

Her rest was broken at night. She has taken Hood's Sarsaparilla and now she can do any ordinary work without trouble, sleep soundly, and go about without being over-fatigued. We know it is a splendid tonic." J. M. SLAYTON, 842 Cottage St., Meadville, Pa.

DOUBLE TRAGEDY.

It Was Enacted in Salesburg, a Suburb of South Bethlehem.

Bethlehem, Pa., June 4.—A double tragedy was enacted in Salesburg, a suburb of South Bethlehem, this morning. Annoyed by his neighbor affording his wife protection a week ago, when he beat her, Jacob Lucky waylaid John Mullock and shot him dead. Lucky then attempted suicide twice and finally hanged himself to a tree within ten feet of Mullock's dead body.

The murder was a cold blooded and premeditated one. Both men were employed at the Bethlehem Iron Works, and last night Lucky attempted to quarrel with Mullock, but did not succeed. This morning Lucky stationed himself before Mullock's door, partly hiding behind the tree on which he later hanged himself. As Mullock and his 13-year-old son left the house to go to work, Lucky sprang out from behind the tree. The men clinched. Mullock's boy pounded Lucky on the head with stones and the next moment Lucky drew a revolver and emptied five chambers into Mullock's body, killing him instantly. Lucky fired a shot at the fleeing boy, but missed him.

Lucky then walked slowly back to his home, re-loaded the revolver and tried to shoot his wife and himself. The cartridges, however, did not explode. Then he drained a phial of bi-chloride of mercury. The poisonfailed to kill him quick enough, so he ran to the scene of the murder and, securing a clothes line, hanged himself. His wife and son saw him take his life, but dared not interfere.

Both men were about 45 years of age. Lucky leaves a widow and two children and Mullock leaves a widow and three children.

The scene of the tragedy is a long stony lane, a mile out of town, and in a sparsely inhabited locality. The murderer and suicide was a hard drinker and when under the influence of liquor he beat his wife and children shamefully. Mullock was a quiet, hard working man. Both had been in this country only six years.

Justice on the Conspiracy.

The New Jersey Legislature, Republican in both branches, meets to-day at Trenton to finish what the Voorhees investigation has laid bare.

The political conspiracy whose plans, plots and plunders have been exposed goes to the heart and root of free government. If the living members of this corrupt and corrupting ring cannot be punished there is no use of law and Judge and prison for lesser criminals or less dangerous crimes. The conspiracy began with debauching the ballot box in Hudson County by the ring of which Leon Abbett was the head. It included the wholesale corruption of public morals by the race-track hells at Gloucester and Guttenburg. A black stream of bribery has flowed through all the State from policemen and election officers through county and city administration up to the Legislature and Governor. City and county governments have been plundered wholesale from the Hudson to the Delaware. Elections have been systematically corrupted. Laws bave been bought. Pardons have been sold like chattels. Save for a righteous revolution at the polls and a few righteous Judges on the bench this conspiracy would still rule the State.

Some of these men are dead. Hired pardons have saved some. Some owe their freedom to the statute of limitations and some to absence and flight. But some are left. Kelsey is left for one. Respectable, able, known—he has held the bag and received great sums under thin legal pretenses which deceive neither him nor others. He stands for the worst and most dangerous enemy of good government who tries to make public life as profitable as it would be made by open plunder without ever getting on the wrong side of the law. Into the legal character of his wholesale receipt of fees we do not propose to enter, pending a legal decision, but it is plain as day that he ought to be forced to defend at law the gains he has got by a forced construction of laws made by himself for his own benefit.

There are other men, less successful but morally no guiltier. The contractors who bled the State. Gobetweens in pardon transactions. Other fee-fakirs. The men who worked up election crimes. Many of these time has saved from criminal proceedings, but in some it is still possible to begin civil proceedings. The State is watching the Legislature and its Republican majority. The people ask for justice and justice must be done or the moral effect of this exposure will be lost and the public will conclude that this long conspiracy has debauched both parties.

He Got Left.

A certain preacher of the Juniata valley not long since was called upon to marry a young couple. At the close of the ceremony the groom handed him an envelope which he of course supposed contained the marriage fee, but was surprised on opening it to find a slip of paper on which was written: "We desire your prayers for our prosperity." We should judge that it would be at least fifteen minutes before the preacher would be in a proper mood for the devotional exercises requested.—Juniata Tribune.

ONCE more a treatment for consumption is announced. As before, when the Koch craze was at its height, it must be said that the attitude of the afflicted and their friends should be one of extreme conservatism. It is not well to excite false hopes. In the desire for a specific the wish is often father to the thought that it has been discovered. The new serum is the work of a St. Louis bacteriologist. By cultivating the germs of tuberculosis and inoculating a horse he obtains from the blood of the latter a fluid which is inimical to the development of the disease giving germs. The method is similar to that used in obtaining the diptheretic serum but differs from the process used in making Koch's tuberculin. The new serum is simply the result of analogy and means the extension of the method of directly affecting the blood by means of hypodermic injection instead of through the stomach. Patient experiment in the hands of the skilled will alone determine its value, and until then the laity will have to possess their souls in patience.

Good Health

And a good appetite go hand in hand. With the loss of appetite, the system cannot long sustain itself. Thus the fortifications of good health are broken down and the system is liable to attacks of disease. It is in such cases that the medicinal powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla are clearly shown. Thousands who have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla testify to its great merits as a purifier of the blood, its powers to restore and sharpen the appetite and promote a healthy action of the digestive organs. Thus it is, not what we say but what Hood's Sarsaparilla does that tells the story and constitutes the strongest recommendation that can be urged for any medicine. Why not take Hood's Sarsaparilla now?

Now that apportionment is beaten the Democratic newspapers of the State—ominously silent before—have found voice to condemn that action. This was expected. Let us call the attention of our Democratic friends to the fact that if the Democratic members of the Legislature had not voted solidly to defeat apportionment it could not have been defeated. Senator Quay, in his opposition to these measures, was enabled to control the support of but sixty-five Republicans, while eighty-three were opposed to him and refused to be dictated to. The Democrats held the balance of power and naturally they cast their votes with the Quay members and against the majority of Republicans. When our Democratic contemporaries talk about the failures to perform a constitutional duty let them not forget the part their own Representatives played in that failure.

DECORATION EXERCISES.

How the Day Was Observed in Bellefonte.

Thursday was a delightful day, but an extremely warm one, and we doubt not made some of the old soldidrs imagine themselves once again on southern soil, 'neath the scorching days of a southern sun. But notwithstanding the intense heat, the day hallowed by all and especially sacred to the old comrades in arms, was appropriately observed in Bellefonte. All the forenoon the various members of Gregg Post were as busy as bees making the final preparations. They were assisted in the arranging of the flowers by a number of patriotic ladies who, as is their wont, gathered in the Post rooms and made boquets and wreathes from morn until noon. In the afternoon the decoration exercises proper took place.

Gregg Post was assisted in the exercises of the day by various organizations of the town and the parade as it formed on Spring street was made up as follows: The orator of the day, Hon. S. F. Bowser, of Butler, and J. C. Meyer, Esq., in a carriage; Bellefonte Band, Company B drum corps; Company B; Gregg Post; Bellefonte Commandery K. G. E.; Undine band and fire company and the P. O. S. of A. The parade as it moved along the various streets and out to the cemetery presented a very creditable appearance. In the cemetery the usual hollow square was formed and the customary exercises gone through with, Wm. T. Fitzgerald, Commander of Gregg Post, being in charge. The music render by the male quartette was exceptionally fine. At the completion of the services a salute was fired by a squad of Company B and then the parade reformed and marched back to the court house where the oration was delivered by Mr. Bowser. The extreme heat kept many persons outside the building and the crowd that listened to the address was not overly large. Mr. Bowser is a good talker and made a pleasing and interesting speech.

And thus again have the old soldiers performed a duty which has now become to them a sacred trust. And from it they cannot fail to draw the lesson that another year has been added to their own lives and that before another one rolls around their may be additional graves to decorate and fresh mounds in the cemetery on which to drop a sympathetic tear.

Died at Stormstown.

Mrs. William L. Wilson, died early Wednesday morning at her home in Stormstown, after an illness of about two years from paralysis and other diseases. Born in Half Moon valley on the 21st of September 1825, she was 69 years, 8 months and 8 days old.

Deceased's maiden name was Eliza Jane Gray. Her mother, Mrs. Catharine Gray, survives at the advanced age 92 years, and resides at Stormstown. Besides her husband, William L. Wilson, six sons and three daughters survive, namely: Robert A., of Tyrone, Benner of Half Moon, Harry L. of Altoona, John of Wisconsin, Isaac of South America, George of Colorado, and Misses Harriet E., Mary D. and Alice at the family home in Stormstown. Five brothers also survive: George and John Gray of Half Moon valley, Samuel of Warriorsmark, and Miles and I. Vinton of Philipsburg.

Deceased was a life-long member of the M. E. church, a consistent Christian lady, a kind wife, parent and sister, and a good neighbor. The funeral took place Friday morning at 10 o'clock, at Stormstown. Interment in Stormstown cemetery.

Two Deaths.

On Monday two deaths occurred at Rebersburg. Mrs. Elias Stover, an aged lady, died in the forenoon and was buried Thursday morning. We were unable to ascertain her age or any particulars relating to her death.

In the evening of the same day Mrs. Lavinia Leitzell, the relict of Aaron Leitzell, who died just four weeks ago, followed her husband to the realms beyond. Deceased was in feeble health and almost helpless for the last two years and her family realized that her days were numbered. On Sunday evening she fell into a peaceful slumber from which she never woke and which terminated on the following evening in the sleep of death. Her age was 75 years. The funeral took place from the house of mourning Friday morning at 9.30 o'clock.

In Honor of Curtin.

On Wednesday Mrs. Governor Curtin received from a committee of the Pennsylvania Reserve Association, consisting of Owen Jones, chairman; Col. P. McDonough, President; Geo. L. Myers and Capt. Jock, the actor, a beautiful floral design to be placed on the grave of ex-Governor Curtin on Decoration Day. The committee sending the emblem was formed at an informal meeting held after the association had unfurled a flag over the grave of Gen. McCandless (Old Buck) at Mt. Moriah cemetery.

The emblem was received in good condition and it proved to be a most beautiful and appropriate design. It decorated the war-governor's grave during the services on Thursday and was admired by hundreds who stopped to view the last resting place of the illustrious dead.

Captain E. D. Brisbin Dead.

Captain E. D. Brisbin died at his home at Pennsylvania avenue and Fourteenth street, at 4.30 o'clock Wednesday morning, after suffering from pneumonia about a week.

Captain Ezra Dougherty Brisbin was born at Boalsburg, Centre county, on the 20th of October, 1829, and was 65 years, 7 months and 9 days old. Spending his childhood days at Boalsburg, his parents removed to Williamsburg when the lad was about 12 years of age, where he grew to manhood. At the age of 22 years he went west and lived in Kansas two years, then he returned and settled in Tyrone, where on the first of January, 1856, he married Miss Mary M. Maxwell, the daughter of Robert Maxwell, one of Tyrone's early citizens, who with his family in later years removed to the west. Mr. and Mrs. Brisbin remained in Tyrone one year after their marriage, then they removed to Milesburg where they remained about a year, and then removed to Woodbury where they lived some years. They then removed to the west, and after living in Wisconsin about a year settled in Redwing, Minn. They remained in Minnesota until about seven years ago when they returned to Tyrone and have lived here ever since.

Captain Brisbin in disposition was quiet, unostentatious and kind. He was a saddle and harness maker by trade, which vocation he followed during the most of his adult life. At the time of his death he was janitor of the Logan avenue school building, which position he faithfully filled for several years. He was a member of the M. E. church and in the west was connected with the Grand Army of the Republic, but he did not transfer his membership in that order from his western to his eastern home.

At the beginning of the war deceased was captain of the Woodbury Zouaves, an organization attached to the First Brigade, Sixteenth Division, Pennsylvania Militia, comprising the counties of Bedford, Blair, Cambria, Fulton and Somerset. On the 24th of September he enlisted in the 110th regiment for the war, and became captain of Company C, of the regiment, in which place he remained till the 16th of June, 1862, when he returned to civil life.

Deceased is survived by his wife, two sons and two brothers. The sons are, W. J. and C. B. Brisbin, both of whom are married and live in Tyrone. Three sons and one daughter are dead, two of whom died in the east before the family removed to the west, the other two dying in the west. The surviving brothers are Samuel Brisbin of Lewistown and B. V. Brisbin, of Lemont, Centre county.—Tyrone Herald.

Krumrine—Bubb.

On Tuesday, at high noon, Mr. Sydney Krumrine of Bellefonte and Miss Jennie Bubb were married at the residence of the bride's parents, 215 Pine street, Williamsport, Pa. The ceremony was witnessed by only relatives and near friends of the young couple. They departed on their wedding tour that evening, and after a sojourn of about one week they expect to arrive in Bellefonte and will take up their residence on Spring street, in the house recently vacated by Mr. Shuey.

Mr. Krumrine is one of Bellefonte's progressive business men and conducts one of the best drug stores in the town. His bride is an accomplished young lady and was a social favorite in that city.

Cholera in Brest.

London, May 3.—A Paris dispatch to the Daily News, which will be published to-morrow, says it is reported that cholera has appeared in Brest. If the report proves to be well founded the French war ships may not go to Kiel to take part in the ceremonies attendant upon the opening of the Baltic sea canal.

IT WAS GRADUATION DAY,

And Fourteen Young Ladies and Gentlemen Got Diplomas.

Friday was graduation day for the Bellefonte High School and fourteen young ladies and gentlemen completed their four years' course in that institution and are now prepared to enter College or, if they so desire, to begin the real struggle of life in any one of the many and varied businesses that are offered to the young, enterprising and intelligent young man and woman.

The Commencement exercises were held in Garman's opera house afternoon and evening, and the stage was beautifully set and adorned for the occasion. Potted plants and cut flowers were arranged in profusion and the intermingling of class colors with the national colors and flags made a picture for the eye of an artist. The Bellefonte orchestra was present and furnished the music for the occasion and this was an additional delightful feature.

The young people, members of the graduating class, all arrayed in becoming costumes, were seated in a semicircle on the stage and each in turn, as they were announced stepped gracefully to the front and delivered or read the part they were down for on the program of exercises. We would to particularize and say just how favorable an impression each one and all made, but time and space will not permit, so we must be content with giving the program as it was rendered.

The exercises began with an overture by the orchestra entitled "Bridal Rose," followed with an invocation. The salutatory and essay, "The secret of power," was then very gracefully and fluently given by Miss Della V. Goodfellow, who took second honors of the class. Then followed the following program:

Essay—Beauty and Duty, Teresa M Lyon

Essay—The Modern Victor, Katherine M. Lieb.

Essay—The Value of Politeness, Mary G. Crotty.

Music—By the Orchestra.

Essay—On the Boundless Sea, Anna M. Fox.

Oration—The Permanence of the Republic, Wm. S. McCalmont.

Essay—The Founders of Public Education, Nellie G. Anderson.

Essay—Great Men and Their Influence, Lena Baum.

Music—By the Orchestra.

Essay—Random Shots, Katherine G. Heylmun.

Oration—The Men to Make a State Charles A. McClure.

Essay—Blind in the Midst of Beauty, Frances B. Elmore.

Music—By the Orchestra.

Essay—The Exodus, Harriet B. Stot.

Discussion—Woman's Rights, con, G. Gray Hastings, pro, H. Mary Underwood, the latter also delivering the Valedictory.

With music and the benediction the afternoon's exercises came to a close.

IN THE EVENING,

The opera house well filled with a large crowd assembled to witness the closing part of the program, the hearing of the commencement address and see the conferring of diplomas. The commencement address was delivered by Hon. Thomas H. Murray, of Clearfield, and in his talk he gave to the young graduates some very pithy and pointed advice. His address throughout was very interesting an entertaining. At the completion of Mr. Murray's talk D. F. Fortney, Esq., in his usual characteristic way, presented to each and every graduate a diploma certifying to their graduation from the Bellefonte High School, and then with music and the benediction the audience adjourned.

Robbing the Graves.

The nefarious habit of robbing the graves of flowers and plants is going on in cemetery. Many persons have spent much time and have gone to no little expense to have the graves of their loved ones beautifully adorned, only to find that heartless villians have ruthlessly carried away the deposited emblems of their fondest love and cherished memories, even going so far as to dig up the plants and leave the mounds almost desolate. No effort should be left undone to ascertain the names of these scoundrels, and if discovered, the fullest measure of the law should be dealt out to them. We hope the association will investigate the matter and try to put a stop to future robberies.

Very Warm in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, May 31.—Philadelphia experienced another day of May record-breaking heat to-day. The highest point reached by the thermometer was the same as yesterday—94 degrees—but the mean temperature to-day was 5 degrees higher than yesterday. It was also 2 degrees warmer at 8 oclock to-night than it was at the same hour last evening when the mercury marked 84 degrees. There were seventeen cases of heat prostration reported by the police, and of these three are in a serious condition.

State College.

The annual report of the State College has just been issued, having been delayed by the burning of the State Printer's office. It is profusely illustrated with views of the building and also shows students at work in laboratory and shop. The faculty consists of sixteen professors, ten assistant professors and fourteen instructors and assistants. The number of students is 317 and fifty counties in the state are represented.

Benefits of Advertising.

One of the most important questions with which the business man has to deal is that of advertising. A good many merchants have devoted much time and attention to the subject, and when the results of their observations are given to the public, they are always found to embody much of value. Here is what one of them says: "My experience has been that the most desirable people to sell to like to buy of men who advertise, whether they are attracted by the advertising or not. By the most desirable people, I mean those who are always wide awake, and who believe in pushing their way through life as energetically as possible. There is an affinity between such people and the big advertisers. They hold ideas in common and so naturally like to get together. The dealer is a hustler as naturally takes to the manufacturer who is a hustler as a duck takes to water. Many men value advertising only according to visible results, and hence are never satisfied. Now every advertisement exerts an unconscious influence I say unconscious, because the person influenced is not aware of being impressed at the time, for he may not be in need of the goods just then. But when he comes to place his order he thinks first and best of the firms whose advertisements he has frequently seen, and one of them stands the best show of getting it. I am, therefore, of the unchangeable opinion that no concern can well dispense with advertising."

THE failure of the miners' strike in the Pittsburg region brings forward the fact that miners who are not under the company store system can make living wages at a much lower tonnage rate than the rate paid where the pass book and store order scheme are the rule. Miners working at a lower figure than the one paid by the operators whose employes had gone out refused to unite with the strikers, and their reasons were that cash wages and relief from company store extortion and exaction enabled them to secure a net result for labor impossible under the scale rate which was the cause of the store system. The miners have evidently discovered the real trouble they must deal with in future labor movements.

IT IS now generally admitted that Secretary Carlisle rose to the height of judicial fairness and dignity in discussing the silver question before the Memphis assembly of business men. When at his best Mr. Carlisle is philosophic, clear and able. But his real place is the Senate or Bench. As an executive he has not filled the niche expectation carved out for him. To talk of finances is one thing; to take advantage of conditions and bad surroundings is another thing and a more difficult one. In the latter role Mr. Carlisle has proved a failure.

Fatal Accident.

Washington, May 31.—A fatal accident occurred during the last race at St. Asaph this afternoon. As the horses were coming round the turn into the home stretch, Kirkover, ridden by Corbley fell, breaking the jockey's neck. Three other horses fell on him. Donnelly, on Punch, the favorite, was injured about the head. Punch broke his leg and had to be killed.

AMBITIOUS WOMEN

MAKE HEROES OF MEN.

She Will Brave Anything for the Man She Loves.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

When an ambitious woman loves a man she will spur him to heroic efforts. She will dare with him the rigors of the frozen North, and encourage him in daring dangers almost unsurmountable.

Women are by nature ambitious according to their physical and mental strength. Hope and ambition come with perfect health, but vanish before sickness and despair.

American women are, unfortunately, particularly subject to those painful female diseases that are the cause of so much hopelessness and misery.

Could all women realize the undeniable fact that they suffer unnecessarily, how much brighter life would be!

Lydia E. Pinkham devoted her life to the study of female diseases and their cause; and she discovered in the Vegetable Compound an absolute remedy. It succeeds in removing the cause of the trouble.

Women who rely more upon their own natural common-sense, rather than on the theories of their physicians, write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., and are soon restored to health.

Here is a living example: "Four months ago I was unable to stand on my feet. I had falling of the womb, kidney trouble, and inflammation of the bladder; the backache and bearing-down pains were dreadful.

My physician could give me no relief. A friend said, try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Well, I did. Oh, if every suffering woman would do the same, they would be cured, cured absolutely and entirely, as I am!" MRS. WM. M. MOREY, 20 Seymour St., Pittsfield, Mass.

Industrial Notes.

At St. Helena, Mo., an iron plant is soon to be put in operation which will give employment to 500 men.

The new plant of the Beaver Tin Plate Company, at New Lisbon, O., is now in full operation, and upward of 200 men have been put to work.

Edith Furnace, Allegheny, Pa., owned and operated by the Hainsworth Steel Company, and which has been idle for some time, has resumed operations.

The Ohio Tin-Plate Company, at Remington, Pa., will employ one hundred of the former employes of the U. S. Iron and Tin-Plate Company. The men are now moving from McKeesport.

The management of the Baker Forge Company, of Elwood City, announces that the present force of workmen will be doubled shortly. The plant is running full time day and night and has lots of orders ahead.

The general raise in wages has caused discontent among the operatives at points where wages have not been advanced, and strikes are said to be imminent at a number of places in the East.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has just placed additional orders for 24,000 tons of steel rails. This contract is divided between three different companies—the Carnegie, the Pennsylvania Steel Company and the Cambria Iron Company.

The woolen department of the Manchester Manufacturing Company's plant, which has been running on forty hours a week time since last August, begins next Monday to operate full time, with an increased force of workmen.

U. of P. vs. State College.

Here is the way the Public Ledger, Philadelphia, decants on the State College appropriation as against that allowed the University of Pennsylvania:

The work of the Committee on Appropriations of the House at Harrisburg should be revised by the House, particularly in the matter of granting $500,000 for the improvement of Delaware harbor. The money, if not obtainable from other sources, could be saved by a revision of appropriations to institutions receiving State aid. It is not necessary to particularize, except as to one or two items. The University of Pennsylvania asked for $500,000, but was granted only $200,000 or less than was voted to the Pennsylvania State College. Provost Harrison offered, if the State would give $500,000, to give a like amount himself; and to raise another half million. In other words, for each dollar given by the State two would have been raised by private subscription, to be devoted by educational purposes. This liberal offer was rejected when the appropriation was cut down to $200,000. At the same time, the State College has been awarded $212,000. It has 305 students, 54 of whom are in a preparatory school. The appropriation amounts to $695 per head, while that to the Universisy, with its 2400 pupils, is only $83.33 per head. The State has appropriated altogether to the State College $825,796, and the value of its lands and buildings is $275,000. This represents 33 cents on the dollar of money appropriated by the State. The University has received $271,266.66, and has property valued at five million dollars, representing $18 for every dollar received from the State. And now, when its Provost offers to double a State appropriation of $500,000, his offer is rejected. The State College is cited as a conspicuous example of extravagance, because the appropriation represents $695 per head for the number of students, or over $6000 per head for its 35 graduates. The House should revise the list to do justice to all institutions, and, above all, should make the appropriation for the improvement of the harbor.

THE steamship St. Louis, which sailed away on her maiden voyage or trial trip onSaturday, is one of the greatest steamships in the world, and will doubtless spread the name and fame of Philadelphia mechanics, engineers and artisans to many thousands of passengers. The size, beauty, speed and carrying capacity of great steamships, though matters of wonderment, convey no real impression of the variety of skill required for their production. The mere iron hull is a marvel of engineering skill, with its graceful lines adapted to secure strength with least resistance to movement. The machinery to drive the ship embodies scientific principles reduced to practice, and the furnishings and decorations are expressions of the artistic culture of the designers and of the mechanics employed in the work of finishing. Within the iron walls of a single ship of this class are contained almost all that man knows of engineering, mechanics and art. And the St. Louis is one of the greatest of all the great ships of the world, built here in Philadelphia, and almost entirely from the products of Pennsylvania and by the workmen of the state. We ought to be proud of such ships, and being proud of them we should provide unobstructed way for them from their birthplace to the sea which is to be their home.

PUBLIUS LENTULUS, President of Judea, is said to have sent the following description of Jesus Christ to the Senate of Rome: "His person is tall and elegantly shaped; His aspect amiable and reverend; His hair flows in those beauteous shades which no united colors can match, falling in graceful curls below His ears, agreeably couching on His shoulders, and parting on the crown of his head; His dress is that of the sect of Nazarites; His forehead is smooth and large; His cheeks without blemish, and of roseate hue; His nose and mouth are formed with exquisite symmetry; His beard is thick and suitable to the hair of his head, reaching a little below his chin, and parting in the middle below; His eyes are clear, bright, serene. No one has seen him laugh."

A Needle in Her Foot.

Several months ago Miss C. M. Miller, of Tyrone, stepped on a needle, which broke off in her foot, and with uninterrupted suffering it remained there until a few days ago when a physician extracted the needle. The offending needle was about one and three-quarter inches long, and about three-quarters of an inch was in the foot. The needle was found lodged against the bone of the great toe and was consequently hindered from working its way to any other part of the body, as needles usually do. It was entirely buried from sight.

CENTENNIAL NOTES.

The Crowd Growing Bigger and Everybody Happy.

The unusual amount of enthusiasm manifested during the past few days is a good criterion of what we may expect Thursday and Friday. All along the NEWS has advocated a rousing big time and urged the citizens to take hold of the movement with a spirit that would predestine success from the start; and, to justify its course, we have predicted the largest crowd ever seen in Bellefonte. It is now a foregone conclusion, tardily conceded by everybody that, if the weather continues favorable from thirty to fifty thousand visitors will be in Bellefonte on Thursday and Friday. And, we are happy to say, they will not be disappointed on coming here. It was the purpose to show them a great big time, and that purpose is now an assured certainty. Everything is so complete that we feel justified in asserting the fact that the displays and amusements of Thursday and Friday will size up to the expectations of everyone coming here and amply repay them for the small outlay required.

Already delegations of firemen have arrived and the town is filled with strangers. Every incoming train is filled to overflowing and the overflow always takes place at the Bellefonte station. But there is lots of room here. The town is big and will hold a large crowd, and when the town is filled up there are large hills surrounding which will accommodate a multitude.

For Thursday the arrangements are so complete that they have already been given in detail, even to the route of parade. t will be wholly and entirely the firemen's day and they will own the town. The parade at 11 o'clock in the morning will be one of the grandest civic displays ever seen in this place. In the afternoon there will be a full program of firemen's contests of all kinds and in the evening one of the most magnificent exhibitions of fireworks imaginable will be put off.

On Friday, general centennial day, even some of the people in Bellefonte will be surprised when they see all. A parade in the morning, that now promises to be hours long, will be one feature. The meeting in the afternoon at which Gen. Beaver will orate and a dozen bands play in unison will be another, and the pyrotechnic display in the evening another. And while you are taking all these in, don't forget to pay a visit to Curio Hall, where you will see more ancient relics than you ever dreamed of existing in Centre county. There is a British Ensign captured by Capt Wilson during the Revolutionary war and once in the possession of Lafayette, a cane owned by Geo. Washington and a letter written by that gentleman; chairs of Lafayette and William Penn; a letter written by Lord Howe, and Gov. Curtin's recruiting flag, with three rooms full of other things just as interesting, but which we have not the space to mention. But one thing is certain, there will be lots to keep every one occupied who comes to Bellefonte on that day.

Special Police.

Burgess W. F. Gray has appointed the extra policemen to serve until after the centennial, so that the force as it will stand the next two days is as follows:

Chief, H. H. Montgomery; Lieutenant, William Garis; special, David Haines, James McCafferty and John C. Miller. The following have been employed by the hotels named who will also act in connection with the borough force: At the Cummings House, Frank Wescott; Brockerhoff House, John Dunlap, Wesley Jones; Temple Court, George Garis. If the circumstances demand it still more policemen will be sworn in.

The Fruit Crop.

Interviews with farmers from all parts of the county in reference to the prospects for a good fruit crop lead to the belief that there will be an abundance of all kinds of fruit unless it be peaches. Apples will be plenty. Cherries, pears, and plums were hurt but little by the frost. The peach trees were badly injured by the extremely low temperature last winter and it will be due more to that cause than to the late frosts that there will be a very light crop of that fruit.

Bottled Electricity.

An electric company has been organized in New York for the purpose of distributing any place in the city eletcicity stored in small jars. The stored electric powes thus distributed, is employed for illumination, for running sewing machines, coffee grinders, etc. The idea that storage batteries are necessarily excessively heavy is erroneous. Storage cells, weighing but four ounces, will confine enough of this powerful element to run one lamp during an evening.—Shoeand Leather Facts.

No Checks Taken.

"No checks or drafts cashed here," is the notice recently put up at a hotel in a near town. Beneath the notice is pasted a bogus check for $25. This told how the proprietor had been beaten out of $25, and protest expenses. The man who presented the check was a good looking fellow and represented himself to be a salesman. H had a satchel with hi . He beat hotel at York, Martinsburg and other towns from $20 to $50.

Acting through the blood, Hood's Sarsaparilla not only cures scrofula, salt rheum, etc., but gives health and vigor to the whole body.

ALTGELD TALKS WILDLY.

Now That the Supreme Court Has Overthrown Income Tax and Punished Debs It's All Up With Free Institutions.

Springfield, Ill., June 2.—Gov. Altgeld is of the belief that the United States Supreme Court has established a dangerous precedent in remanding E. V. Debs and his friend to jail. He expressed himself in a very caustic manner to-day regarding the decisiou. He accuses the court of trampling upon the rights of the people and of being the tool of monopoly. He gives his views for publication in a signed article, in which he says, in part:

"This decision marks a turning point in our history, for it establishes a new form of government never before heard of among men—that is, government by injunction. The provisions of the Constitution "that no man shall be deprived of the liberty without a trial by an impartial jury,' is practically wiped out by this decision of the United States Supreme court, and the theory that ours is exclusively a government of law, is now at an end, for every community is now subject to obey any whim or caprice which any Federal judge may promulgate, and if Federal judges can do this then it will not be long until State judges will follow the example.

For a number of years it has been remarked that the decision of the United States courts were nearly always in favor of corporations. Then it was noticed that no man could be appointed to Federal judgeship unless he was satisfactory to those interests. A week ago the Supreme Court did violence to the constitution and laws of the land by holding that the Government has no right to tax the rich of this country. Now, it has stricken down trial by jury and has established government by injunction.

Forty years ago the slave power predominated. To-day it is the capitalist power and saved our institutions. Can they rescue them again? Many say yes, but they have not reflected that the crushing force which now confronts them is greated than was ever the slave power. Capitalists sit in the White House and legislate in the Capitol. The courts of justice are its ministers, and Legislatures are its lackeys. And the whole machinery of fashionable society is its handmaid.

Just see what a brood of evils has sprung from the power of capitalism since 1890. First, the striking down of over one-third of the money of the world, thus crushing the debtor class and paralyzing industry; second the growing of that corrupt use of wealth which is undermining our institutions, debauching public officials, shaping legislation and creating judges who do its bidding; third, the exemption of the rich from taxations; fourth, the substitution of government by injunction for government by the constitution and laws; fifth, the striking down of tr al by jury.

Never has there been so much patriotic talk as in the last 25 years, and never were there so many influences at work strangling republican institutions.

They All Cooled Off.

Monday night on the adjournment o council President Miller invited the crowd to Achenbach's to cool off with ice cream. And just here it may be said, they all needed a cooling off, as council chamber was a veritable sweat box the entire evening. Of course they all went with the exception of Gen. Beaver. On arriving at Achenbach's the crowd was considerably surprised to see that the School Directors were ahead of them as were also a representation of the Village Improvement Society. So that when council got in the room there were three august municipal bodies therein assembled and the way they disposed of the ice cream was a caution.

Fakirs by the Dozen.

Monday evening's train brought almost a carload of fakirs to Bellefonte and our people, as well as visitors here during Thursday and Friday, may expect the town to be overrun with men plying al kinds of games to catch the unwary and reap a harvest of nickles, dimes, etc. Beware of them, and especially of any man who is running a game of chance. They will get the best of you every time and it is wiser to spend your money where you will realize some benefit therefrom, at any rate.

Generous Corporations.

Bellefonte has a number of railroads but of all centering here the management of the Bellefonte Central and Central Pennsylvania seems to have the benefit of the town most at heart. When arrangements for the firemen's convention and centennial demonstration were in progress, these companies were the first to offer a one way fare excursion rate. And now, in addition, they have both generously contributed $50 to the centennial fund. Such generosity is deserving of individual support and liberal reminder at all times.

Band Tournament.

The fourth annual tournament of the Northern Pennsylvania and Western New York Band Association, to be held at Philipsburg, on Thursday and Friday, June 20th and 21st, promises to be a big day over there. Among the amusements offered for the two days are road races, running races, horse races, dog races, foot races and bicycle races. The band convention will be held the 1st day and the contests the second day. The sports will begin at 1 o'clock each day.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

A Short Session but Some Work of Interest Done.

Council convened Monday evening at 7.45 o'clock with members Williams, Hillibish, Beaver, Brockerhoff, Brachbill and Bush present. In the absence of President Miller Gen. Beaver was elected chairman pro tem. Mr. Isaac Mitchell, council's clerk, being absent the first time in years, Mr. Thomas Mitchell acted as clerk and read the minutes of the previous regular and special sessions, which were approved as read.

During the reading of the minutes Mr. Keller and President Miller made their appearance, but Mr. Miller took a back seat and Gen. Beaver continued to preside.

Editor N. S. Bailey was present and asked permission of council for the ladies to peddle lemonade around town in their coffee cart on Thursday and Friday. The request was unanimously granted by the council.

E. R. Chambers was present and asked, on behalf of the ladies of the Village Improvement Society, that the ashes and refuse be removed from the property of Mr. Charles McCafferty, near the P. R. R. depot. The matter was referred to the Street Commissioner with instructions to have the same removed.

A communication from the firemens committee for council to participate in the firemen's parade on Thursday was accepted and the clerk instructed to secure conveyances for that day.

The Street committee reported considerable cleaning up done, but the work not yet completed. That the paving of the diamond is progressing finely and will be completed immediately after the centennial.

The Water committee reported having laid a line of 3-inch pipe to the car works. That the big spring had been cleaned and fixed up with crushed limestone of A. G. Morris.

All the other committees reported progress until the Finance committee was reached when a balance of $11,146.82 was reported due the treasurer. That official also reported that he was out of funds and asked what should be done. On motion the treasurer was authorized to borrow the money to pay all current bills.

Secretary Quigley, of the Board of Health, was present and asked in regard to their duties. He was given necessary instructions.

On motion of John C. Miller the Street committee was requested to notify the Electric Light company to raise some of their wires around town which are unusually low.

Gen. Beaver presented an ordinance regulating the curb market, but suggested that, inasmuch as he believed it somewhat defective, on motion it was held over the next meeting night and referred to a special committee of the borough solicitor, Messrs, Beaver and Keller, to confer with the Chief Burgess, for a fuller examination of the same.

The clerk was instructed to confer with Supt. Westfall in relation to a watchman at Jackson's mill, on the line of the Lewisburg road.

The following bills were approved and council adjourned:

Water pay roll	$76.19
Street pay roll	28.17
Electric Light company, streets	278.25
" " " lockup	4.70
Police pay roll	35.00

Suddenly Killed.

Walter Chandler, a 19-year-old son of David H. Chandler, of Julian Furnace, met with a sudden death on Monday morning. He was riding down from the mountain on a load of bark and, it is not known whether he suffered a sunstroke or accidentally fell, but at all events he fell from the top of the load alighting on a stone on his shoulder. He lived but about two minutes thereafter. Deceased was a bright young man and his death is deeply lamented. He was buried Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Dix Run cemetery.

A Commendable Work.

The movement of the ladies to furnish barrels of ice water for the thirsty visitors during the coming big time is a most commendable one, and will no doubt be greatly appreciated by a thirsty multitude and may also keep hundreds from frequenting the saloon who otherwise might be led to do so. And if they man (or woman) their lemonade cart sufficiently to keep that delightful beverage always on tap, they may reap a little harvest out of the undertaking for themselves. And, we are certain, no persons will more deserve it.

Special to Coburn.

On Thursday and Friday evenings, June 6th and 7th, the Pennsylvania railroad company will run a special train from Bellefonte to Coburn, leaving here at 10 o'clock p. m., which will enable all to witness the grand fireworks display before returning home. Rate to Bellefonte one way fare for the round trip.

Mrs. Teller Dead.

A dispatch from Richmond, Va., announces the death in that place Friday, of Mrs William Teller, wife of the former landlord of the Bush House in this place. Mrs. Teller has been in bad health for some time. No announcement as to funeral arrangements was received.

WEATHER PREDICTIONS.

Extremes of Temperature Forecasted for the Month of Roses.

My last bulletin gave forecasts of the storm waves to cross the continent from June 2 to 6 and 8 to 12. The third disturdance of June will reach the Pacific coast about the 12th, cross the west of Rockies country by close of 13th, great central valleys 14th to 16th and eastern states about 17th.

This disturbance will occur during a cool period, and following it the weather will be unusually cool for this season of the year.

Warm wave will cross the west of Rockies country about the 12th, great central valleys 14th and eastern states 16th. Cool waves will cross the west of the Rockies country about 15th, great central valleys 17th and eastern states 19th. A cool wave is probable during the first week of June, which may bring light frosts along the northern border of the United States.

The first part of June, up to about the 19th, will average unusually cool in all the northern states and about average in all the southern states, as indicated in previous bulletins, but within the nine days—20th to 28th—will occur a remarkably ho wave followed during the last part of the month by a severe cool wave.

These extreme temperatures are parts of the notable weather features referred to in these bulletins some months ago. April and May were expected to average above in temperature, June and July below, with extremes in temperature in the last three months.

Many letters come to me inquiring what the crops will be. My time has all been taken up in working out the problems of future weather as based on recent discoveries, and as the matter of crops is a very large subject I have only had time to forecast the weather, leaving it for my readers to determine what will be the effect of such weather on the crops. I have large facilities for working on the crop problem, and hope soon to add that feature to these bulletins.

Came Back—No Work.

Some of the county papers, last week, took occasion to copy from the Hornet a statement that some 32 men of this place, and Howard township, had left for the bark woods and asserted that was "another proof" of the revival of business and that men anxious to work can always find it. It was true that 32 men did leave here at that time to find work in the woods, and it is also true that over half the number have returned, after visiting nearly all the camps in Lycoming, Potter, Elk and Tioga counties, where they found no employment but found the camps and woods full of men seeking work. Three years ago some 60 men from this district had regular employment in the lumber woods the whole year.

Shot at His Wife.

Robert Daly, colored, aged about 30 years, on Saturday night about 11 o'clock had a quarrel with his wife as they were walking down Sixteenth street towards their home which is on Sixteenth street between Tenth and Eleventh avenues.

Daly finally drew a revolver and fired at her, but without hitting her. He then went away. The chief of police, the sergeant and Barney Clark went to the house and waited until Daly returned. They allowed him to retire and then went in and arrested him in bed. He was taken to the mayor's office, where he claimed that the discharge of the pistol was accidental and was released upon depositing $20.80 a security for a hearing.

Firemen's Pension Bill.

The firemen's pension bill passed the senate finally and was sent to the house to have the amendments concurred in. The bill has passed the house, but a new bill was substituted in the senate to meet the constitutional objections of the attorney general. The new bill diverts one-half of two per cent. tax upon foreign fire insurance companies to city and borough treasuries, and councils are authorized to appropriate this by ordinance to the relief of disabled firemen and relatives of firemen killed in discharge of their duty.

Will Drill Another Well.

The directors of the Salt Lick Gas and Oil Company met on Tuesday evening next, for the purpose of deciding the question of drilling another well in the Karthaus region.

As most of the money required to defray the expense of drilling another well has been raised it is altogether that the directors will decide to commence drilling in a short time.

And, by the way, he told us that James W. McEntire, the present governor of Colorado, is also a native of this county, having been born up Buffalo Run valley.

The Best Thing to Do.

It is probable the Amalgamated Association may get a scale signed for a year at the rate of four dollars a ton for puddling if the extremists do not interfere. The demand for a higher rate has already been flatly refused by the manufacturers, though they are said to be willing to concede a scale for a year without the usual sixty days' notice clause.

Good judgment calls for conservative demands at this time a fact appreciated by the delegates to the convention. While prosperity is returning good times are only in an incipient stage; the frost damages to agriculture have somewhat disturbed confidence and serious divisions over wage questions might have the effect of preventing, or, at least, retarding the coming of better things. Steady work at four dollars a ton is much better than an unsatisfied demand for more, or partial employment at a higher rate. The first object this year should be to secure a friendly settlement.
